Want Every Person to be Able to Make Own Choice

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Three American cardinals appealed to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today to pass a declaration that every human being has a right to complete religious freedom.

Conservative Spanish and Italian cardinals assailed the proposal as a danger to the Roman Catholic Church.

The clash came in one of the most dramatic sessions.

During the same meeting in St. Peter's, the 2,500 council fathers voted approval of the very heart of the collegiality concept of shared power by Pope and bishops in governing the Church.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis — speaking for nearly all U.S. bishops — called on the council to defend religious liberty. They said approval of the declaration was an absolute necessity.

The opposition to the religious liberty declaration — one of the most controversial topics of the council — came from Cardinals Alfredo Ottaviani and Ernesto Ruffini of Italy, and Spanish Cardinals Fernando Quiroga and Jose Bueno.

They supported the view that public officials have the right to establish a state religion.

Cardinal Ottaviani, conservative head of the Vatican's Holy Office, was quoted as saying: "We must profess and defend the Catholic faith even if sometimes this brings persecution."

Council press officials reported the closed-door proceedings to newsmen.

Cardinal Cushing, in his first speech to the council, was quoted as saying: "The Church must become the champion of religious freedom."

"What we are asking," he said, "can be summed up in what has become an important phrase in traditional American life — decent respect for the opinions of mankind."

Telling the council that he spoke for "practically all the bishops of the United States," the Boston cardinal said:

"We must insist on this declaration because it is so important for all nations. It is something that the Catholic world and the non-Catholic world alike have been waiting for. At last it has been possible to have full

4 Men Taken From Nevada Nuclear Shaft

MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — The last of four men trapped Saturday night in an 1,800-foot-deep nuclear test hole was hoisted to the surface today.

All were in good condition. They had been lowered fresh food and other supplies through their three and one-half day ordeal at the Nevada test site.

Last to come up, at 8:05 a.m., was George R. Cooper of Tucson, Ariz. The others, rescued earlier in the morning, were Floyd Shaw of Santa Barbara, Calif.; Leland Roeder, 45, of Pioche, Nev., and Art Luhn of North Las Vegas, Nev.

They were stranded when a thick cable, being installed to link instruments in the underground nuclear blast chamber with the surface, snapped and fell into a spaghetti-like tangle jamming the shaft.

A task force of workmen toiling around the clock finally cleared the cable, restored the elevator to operating condition, and began bringing the quartet up.

It took more than an hour for the two-man elevator to make the trip down to the 30-by-30-foot chamber and return. An elevator operator, Frank Solaugui, went down on the recovery trips.

"I'm well and happy to be upstairs," said Shaw, when he surfaced.

Danish Coalition Expected to Try to Form New Regime

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Socialist Premier Jens Otto Krag's coalition government resigned today after losing its one-vote majority in Parliament. Krag began looking around for allies to join him in a new government.

In a general election Tuesday, Krag's Social Democratic party retained its 76 seats, but its coalition partner — the Radical Liberals — lost a seat.

Krag, 50, handed the government's resignation to King Frederik IX and told newsmen he would advise the king to ask him to form a new government.

Traditionally, the king follows the advice of the largest group in Parliament, which the Social Democrats have been for more than three decades and still are.

The Socialists have twice as many seats as the second-place conservative party.

35,000 Demonstrate at U. S. Base in Japan

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — About 35,000 Communist-led demonstrators marched past the U.S. Navy base in this port city today shouting opposition to visits by nuclear submarines.

The Japanese government recently gave its approval to port calls by atomic subs provided they do not carry nuclear missiles.

Santa Barbara District Hit By Brush Fire

30 Costly Homes Destroyed; Flames Checked Elsewhere

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Erratic 45-mile-an-hour winds rammed a brush fire into an exclusive residential district near Santa Barbara Tuesday night, destroying at least 30 expensive homes.

To the north 350 miles, forestry officials were optimistic that they had gained the upper hand over two raging forest fires in California's wine belt. The fires have charred 50,000 acres and destroyed more than 100 buildings.

The Santa Barbara fire, reported contained Tuesday afternoon, roared through the Montecito area east of the city, forcing evacuation of residents and 600 students at Westmont College.

Santa Barbara Threatened U.S. Forest Service officials said there was a possibility the fire might extend into Santa Barbara proper, a coastal community of some 60,000 population about 50 miles north of Los Angeles.

The fire, shooting flames hundreds of feet into the air, broke out in a canyon in the afternoon. Aided by borate bombers, firemen had the blaze apparently contained at dusk before winds arose to drive it to new fury.

No Serious Injuries

Firefighters in both sections of the 700-mile-long state tempered their optimism with the hope that dry winds — which had whipped the fires at 70 miles-an-hour at times — would remain quiet, choking off the blazes.

By Tuesday night the fast-moving flames had swept wide swaths across Napa and Sonoma.

Blast and Fire At Stockyards

JUDA, Wis. (AP) — Green County authorities said an explosion and fire early today at the Don Condon stockyards caused an undetermined amount of damage.

The office building was charred by the flames and its windows were blown out by the blast. A telephone line to the stockyards also was torn down by the explosion.

A nearby lumber and fuel company was not damaged.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

The fire was discovered by Condon when he arrived to open up this morning.

Assails School's Policy

Teacher Resigns in Dispute Over Use of Novel '1984' as Textbook

EDGERTON (AP) — The Edgerton school board accepted without comment Tuesday night the resignation of a teacher who said he quit because he was not permitted to use George Orwell's novel "1984" in a high course.

School Supt. Kenneth F. Williams recommended that Robert Nordlander's resignation be accepted. Williams was the only school official who spoke when the resignation was brought up at the board meeting.

(Robert Nordlander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nordlander, 333 Lopus St., Menasha, is a 1949 graduate of Menasha High School. He studied at the University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center, and University of Wisconsin, Superior. He also studied at University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point. He also attended the University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh. He was a candidate for assemblyman from Winnebago County's Third District on the Democratic ticket four years ago. He also is a professed atheist.)

Kenneth Williams is the son of Mrs. Mabel Williams, 822 Racine St., Menasha, and is a graduate of Menasha High School and the UW Madison with honors in 1950, masters at UW in 1951. At Edgerton he was elementary principal for four years and was named superintendent of the district in July of 1963.

Williams said that, contrary to board policy, Nordlander had solicited funds from pupils for instruction material. The superintendent explained that Nordlander purchased copies of the book, distributed them to students and asked that he be reimbursed.

Williams refused comment when asked whether Nordlander could have used the books if he hadn't allegedly solicited funds from pupils for the purchase.

Nordlander, who taught French, history and psychology, said in a statement after the meeting that he submitted the resignation "because I am sick and tired of working in an atmosphere where some unknown element of public opinion seems to be the primary concern of the local school administration."

"After the 'book battle' of 1963, I was naively working under the impression that the teachers of the Edgerton public school system had won a victory against the forces of ignorance, which were currently working to prevent a teacher from doing his job," Nordlander said.

Expected "Freedom" "I thought that the forces of reason had triumphed and that academic freedom was firmly entrenched in the thinking of the people who were responsible for the Edgerton public schools. I was wrong."

Nordlander referred to a dispute in which a group of Edgerton residents objected in January, 1963, to a list of books being used in a senior English class. All the books were kept in the class as required reading except "Catcher in the Rye," which was approved for and fired of working in an atmosphere where some unknown

Leland DeKeyser, 30, Charged in Slaying of Mrs. Violet Figlinski

BY RAY PY

SHAWANO — A Seymour father of five has admitted to Shawano County Sheriff authorities in a signed statement that he fought with a Navarino woman, then dragged her from the car and cut her throat sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning. Leland DeKeyser, 30, route 2, Seymour, said he had no motive for the slaying.

He said he used a small pocket knife which he carried in the glove compartment of his car. The knife was sent to the State Crime Laboratory in Madison after it was found early this morning in the glove compartment. The car has been impounded at the Green Bay Police Department.

Warrant Issued Sheriff Carl Krueger said a warrant was issued charging DeKeyser with second degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Andrew Figlinski, route 1, Navarino. He said DeKeyser is hazy on details and authorities of Shawano and Outagamie County Sheriff Departments are attempting to reconstruct the events leading to the slaying.

Tuesday it was believed the woman may have died about 2 a.m., but today the time of death was undetermined.

DeKeyser was picked up Tuesday afternoon at a Green Bay metal working plant, where he was employed, and questioned by Brown County, Shawano and Outagamie County authorities.

At the time, DeKeyser told authorities he had struck up an acquaintance with Mrs. Figlinski in one of several Seymour taverns he visited Monday night.

Toured Taverns

He led police on a tour of the taverns he visited with Mrs. Figlinski, then showed them the area at Roselawn, a four-corner community one-half mile north of the Outagamie County line in Shawano County, where he last saw Mrs. Figlinski alive. He said the woman went into a tavern there.

Later, after questioning, DeKeyser said the woman "asked him to drive her home, which he did. He apparently parked his car about 125 yards from the ramshackle style home of Mrs. Figlinski, and there argued with her."

While he was questioned by Shawano and Outagamie County authorities, detectives searched his car and found traces of blood in several places. The car

Emergency Measures

At 6 a.m. reconnaissance aircraft placed the center of the hurricane about 220 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

Before the forecast on the hurricane's course was revised, emergency measures had been rushed to protect hundreds of miles of the northeast coast from floods, beach erosion and property damage that had been threatened by the high winds over a vast area around the center of the hurricane.

The center had not been expected to hit the Northeast. A hurricane watch — a precautionary measure — remained in effect from the Virginia Capes to Block Island. It was discontinued from the Virginia Capes south to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Warnings of gales of varying degrees continued from Cape Hatteras to Eastport on the

Johnson Hits At 'Extremism'

Tells Labor Unions U. S. Way of Life at Stake in Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today voters in the Nov. 3 election will have "a choice between the center and the fringe — between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes."

Johnson, in an address prepared for six labor union audiences — five of them hearing him on closed-circuit television — said that "the heart of our American way of life... is under attack — and those who love it must go forth now to save it."

Not Party Strife

The President said "Americans are not presented with a choice of parties," nor with "a choice of liberalism and conservatism." He went on:

"Americans are faced today with a concerted bid for power by factions which oppose all that both parties have supported. It is a choice between the center and the fringe — between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes."

Loud Challenge

Johnson said that the challenge is loud and "the call of duty is clear."

"We are called to stand up and be counted," he said. "For we have a duty — a clear and compelling duty — to make it clear that America has not fallen and will not fall into the hands of extremists of any stripe."

Justice Bureau to Face Investigation

Judiciary Committee Votes Quiz Despite Celler Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee hopes to defuse a politically explosive investigation of the Justice Department and former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Rep Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., whose committee ordered the inquiry Tuesday over his opposition, says he intends to try to keep anything from happening until after the November elections.

As chairman of the special subcommittee created to conduct the investigation, Celler will have a lot to say about when it gets under way, but he'll be under heavy pressure to act promptly.

GOP Seeks Speed

Republicans, who offered the resolution ordering the investigation and backed it almost solidly in committee, would like to see it begun while Kennedy is campaigning for the U.S. Senate from New York.

The Teamsters Union, which has been the chief force behind the investigation move, would like to see action before President James R. Hoffa's conviction for jury-tampering is heard on appeal in December.

After the 20-13 vote that set the investigation in motion, Celler told newsmen: "Nobody asked for this investigation except those involved with the Teamsters Union. If it had not been for their agitation, there would be no investigation."

The Teamsters want the committee to look into charges that the Justice Department violated Hoffa's constitutional rights by its actions during his trial in Chattanooga. They first backed

Colombia Takes Precautions to Guard De Gaulle

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A 9,000-man security force protected — visiting President Charles de Gaulle today and sought a French terrorist believed hiding in Colombia's mountain capital.

Armed patrols roved Bogota's streets after an army warning that the terrorist "represents the gravest threat" to the safety of the 73-year-old French leader.

A communique issued two hours before De Gaulle arrived Tuesday on the second leg of his Latin-American tour identified the terrorist as Chateau Jovet. It said he was an organizer of the Secret Army organization that fought against independence for Algeria from France.

Pilots Believed Captured

2 U. S. Planes Downed By Viet Cong Forces

BY JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force planes were shot down early today and one American and one Vietnamese pilot were presumed captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The two Skyraiders with an American and a Vietnamese pilot aboard each were shot down while attacking guerrillas near Rach Gia, 125 miles south-west of Saigon.

The occupants of one plane, bailed out. U.S. military spokesmen said the American was missing. The Vietnamese was rescued.

The second plane crash-landed and the American made his way to government lines. The Vietnamese pilot was missing and presumed captured.

The planes were giving close support with bombs and cannons to two posts and a tow under attack by Viet Cong forces. A 50-caliber Viet Cong machine gun was reported in the area, and U.S. sources said it was assumed this downed the two planes.

The planes carry Vietnamese markings but are U.S. Air Force craft used to train Vietnamese pilots.

Government and Communist troops were reported still fighting in the area where the planes crashed.

In a separate action 40 miles south of Saigon, 50 government defense guards held off a Viet Cong battalion during a night attack on their post at Chau Phu. Scout planes reported the outpost still in government hands at dawn and a battle under way for the bodies of 50 Communists the pilots said they counted around the post.

The Civil Guards corpsmen finally brought in 37 bodies and 26 weapons, the government said.

700 Bombers Predicted by McNamara

Secretary Claims 1969 Latest Date Planes to be Ready

BY TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told American Legionnaires Tuesday that present United States military plans call for a force of 700 manned strategic bombers at least through 1969.

"Whether it will be wise to move from research to production for the purpose of replacing our present bombers in the 1970s remains an open question," he said, adding that future needs ought to dictate future policy.

McNamara thus answered a charge by Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater that the Johnson administration was phasing out the manned bomber from the American arsenal.

Goldwater addresses the national legion convention today.

As McNamara spoke of this country's capacity to utterly destroy any attacker, Goldwater was in the Texas Panhandle and said at Amarillo that McNamara was "trigger happy."

In Dallas the defense secretary was introduced in Dallas by Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who accompanied him back to Washington after McNamara's address.

McNamara said American nuclear capability was able now and would be able in the future "to insure the destruction — and I mean the complete destruction — of both the Soviet Union and Communist China, under the worst imaginable circumstances" should war break out. He said the Minuteman 2 intercontinental ballistics missile would be eight times as effective as the first model of the weapon, and ticked off these items regarding U.S. military preparedness:

—1,100 strategic bombers, including more than 500 on 15-minute alert.

—800 fully armed, dependable ICBMs on launchers, almost all in hardened and dispersed silos.

—256 Polaris missiles deployed in 16 submarines, with 25 more Polaris submarines under construction.

Reynolds Seeking Aid For Farmers

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds asked Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman Tuesday to extend emergency haying provisions for farmers in 35 Wisconsin counties from Sept. 30 to Oct. 31.

Reynolds told Freeman in a telegram that although recent rain has brought pastures and hay fields back "to near normal" many barns in the counties "are empty or near empty due to prolonged drought."

The emergency haying covers acres under feed grain and wheat diversion programs and retired acres under the Soil Bank Program.

The counties involved include: Adams, Ashland, Barron, Bayfield, Buffalo, Burnett, Chippewa, Clark, Crawford, Door, Douglas, Dunn, Eau Claire, Iowa, Iron, Jackson, Juneau, La Crosse, Langlade, Lincoln, Marinette, Marquette, Oneida, Pepin, Pierce, Polk, Price, Richland, Rusk, St. Croix, Sawyer, Taylor, Trempealeau, Vernon and Washburn.

For some time many residents and businessmen have complained about the 1930 vintage postcards sold here, showing Stutz and Essex automobiles parked before rustic shops. The manufacturers said estimated sales didn't justify a new issue.

Monday night the Chamber of Commerce got good news. A local photographer agreed to furnish cards showing Culpeper with its 1964 clothes on.

The Weather Bureau said that as the hurricane moves northward, offshore winds along the coast to the west of the hurricane are expected to range between 30 and 45 m.p.h., except that stronger gusts were forecast along southeastern New England late today and tonight.

Gale warnings for New York harbor were changed to small craft warnings at 4 a.m.

Rain — heavy at times — was forecast for Long Island.

The New York City Weather Bureau said the outlook improved because Gladys had not spread northward as rapidly as had been expected.

Bleeding Youth Found Tied; Legs Severed by Train

BLANDFORD, England (AP) — A 17-year-old schoolboy with both feet cut off by a train was found bound and gagged on a roadside near this Dorset town today. Rushed to a hospital, he was reported in fairly satisfactory condition.

Police said marks indicated the youth had been tied to the track of a nearby railroad and struck by a train. Then he struggled up a 2-foot bank to the highway. Three men going to work found him.

The youth was identified as Stephen Hargreaves of Bryanston School, a private school.

David Hurley, one of the men, said all Hargreaves could say was: "They tied me up."

Police said the boy had been missing from the school since Monday night.

Non-Economic Issues Prevent Agreement At General Motors

DETROIT (AP) — Controversial non-economic problems appeared today to be the major roadblocks to a peaceful settlement in labor contract negotiations between General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union.

Bargaining teams — faced with an impending strike deadline — met in morning, afternoon and night sessions Tuesday seeking agreement on a pact covering some 354,000 UAW-represented employees at 129 GM plants in 71 cities across the nation.

Their time was devoted almost exclusively to such matters as working conditions, production standard, union representation and disciplinary lay-offs.

Earl Warren Marks Court Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, apparently noting current congressional attempts to curb the Supreme Court's powers, said Tuesday that debate over the court's authority to limit the power of states has never ended.

Marking the 175th anniversary of the federal judicial system, the smiling chief justice recalled congressional resolutions introduced but not passed designed to limit the court's jurisdiction over a century ago for having invalidated state laws.

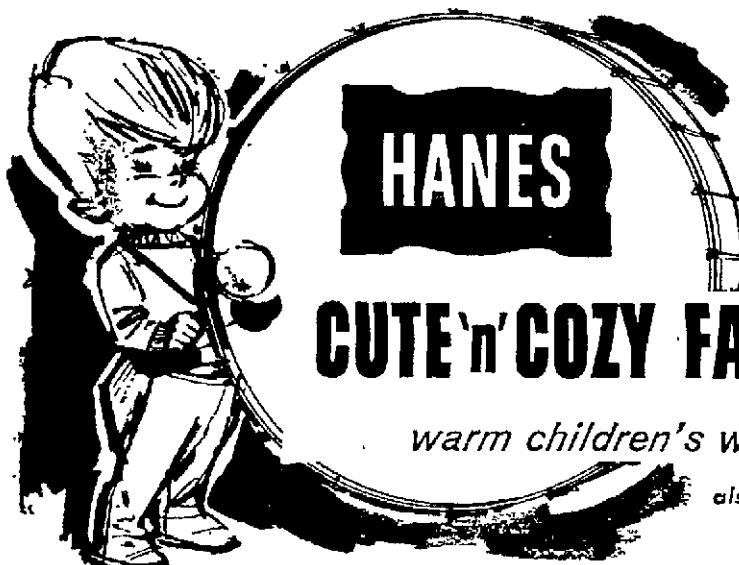

In the current debate, court critics are trying to delay — or prevent — implementation of the court's directive that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned according to population.

Warren recalled vigorous arguments in the first Congress between those "who feared federal encroachment of state power and those who were apprehensive of state power being exercised at the expense of national authority."

He made clear his viewpoint when he said "fortunately a crucial provision" of the Judiciary Act of 1789 — assuring federal legal authority to protect national rights under the Constitution — "became law and provided one of the most important nationalizing influences."

Warren spoke at the opening of a National Archives exhibit of landmark decisions and key documents in Supreme Court history.

U. S. Cardinals Asks Religious Liberty for All discussion of this very crucial point in the council hall."

Cardinal Cushing told the assembly that the Catholic Church desires for all men and faiths the same freedom the Church has always desired for itself.

Cardinal Meyer, who said he, too, spoke for nearly all U.S. bishops, said the proposed declaration was "absolutely necessary. It shows that true religion is promoted by interior conviction and by nothing else. The declaration will also be most fruitful in the dialogue with other Christians."

He said that the religious liberty declaration is of "such immense importance that if it is not passed then nothing else done at the council will have much importance."

Cardinal Ritter praised the declaration for expressing what he called "the interior, natural, native right of every individual," in his religious convictions.

Support From Canada
Support for the American position came from Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, of Montreal, speaking for several bishops of Canada. He praised the text of the declaration as "very acceptable," saying it would be a help in Christian unity efforts.

Text Not Revealed
The declaration is part of the schema on Christian unity, along with another declaration on Roman Catholic relations with Jews and other non-Christians.

The declaration text is still secret. But it is known that at one point it upholds the Roman Catholic belief that Catholicism is the one true faith but adds that members of other faiths are nevertheless worthy of honor.

Cardinal Ottaviani objected to this, saying "We should have charity and kindness but I do not understand why we should speak of honor."

Backing for the declaration came from Raul Cardinal Silva Henriquez of Chile, speaking for 58 Latin-American bishops. He said it could have far reaching effects in Latin America by removing the idea that the Church stands for religious liberty only where it is in the minority.

He predicted that the declaration might lead to fewer but stronger conversions to Catholicism.

The 230 U.S. bishops voted last week to press for a strong declaration defending religious liberty and to oppose attempts by conservative elements to water down the wording.

Strong Opposition Seen
The move for religious tolerance was expected to encounter sharp opposition from bishops of predominantly Roman Catholic countries such as Spain and those of Latin America. However, Pope Paul VI said last April that council approval of a declaration on religious liberty could be "legitimately expected."

In essence, the declaration says every human has the right to free exercise of religion according to the dictates of his conscience. It adds that man should be immune from any outside force in his personal relations with God.

Debate Expected
The declaration was introduced at the second council session last November, but the session adjourned before full discussion could begin.

Trouble was expected over a section that says man's right to follow the dictates of his religious conscience must sometimes be regulated for the common good, for example, through laws prohibiting polygamy or empowering officials to order blood transfusions for critically ill children.

U.S. bishops were said to fear non-Catholic critics would charge that the words "the common good" were an attempt to justify Catholicism's trying to influence legislation in nations where it predominates. Some Spanish theologians insist Spain has the right to oppose threats to her culture brought in by Protestants. Latin-American theologians have contended the state is justified in protecting illiterate citizens from non-Catholic missionaries. The council also continued its series of ballots on collegiality—the concept of collective rule of the Church by the bishops with the Pope instead of by the pontiff alone. Voting had been completed Tuesday on 12 of 40 sections in the schema chapter establishing collegiality. In each case the vote was overwhelmingly favorable.

ma counties, scenic country famous for its tall timbers and terraced vineyards. The hungry fires stopped only when the winds quieted late in the day.

Exhausted firefighters kept pushing their lines forward during the night, hoping to cut off any further spread of the fire lines from Calistoga on the eastern front to Santa Rosa.

Fire officials said it was on the west and Sonoma in the line through the eastern edge of Agua Caliente and Boyes Hot Springs. The blaze was choked off about a mile and a half from downtown Sonoma, a community of 6,000 four miles south of Boyes Hot Springs.

Some 200 residents of the eastern section of Boyes Hot Springs were evacuated when a white-hot "tornado of fire" leaped through homes, then burned a retreat path up a slope. Eight homes were destroyed.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared Napa County a disaster area and said he would add Sonoma County as a disaster area today.

California Fires Kill Many Animals
SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — The fires in Napa and Sonoma Counties have taken a large toll in animal life.

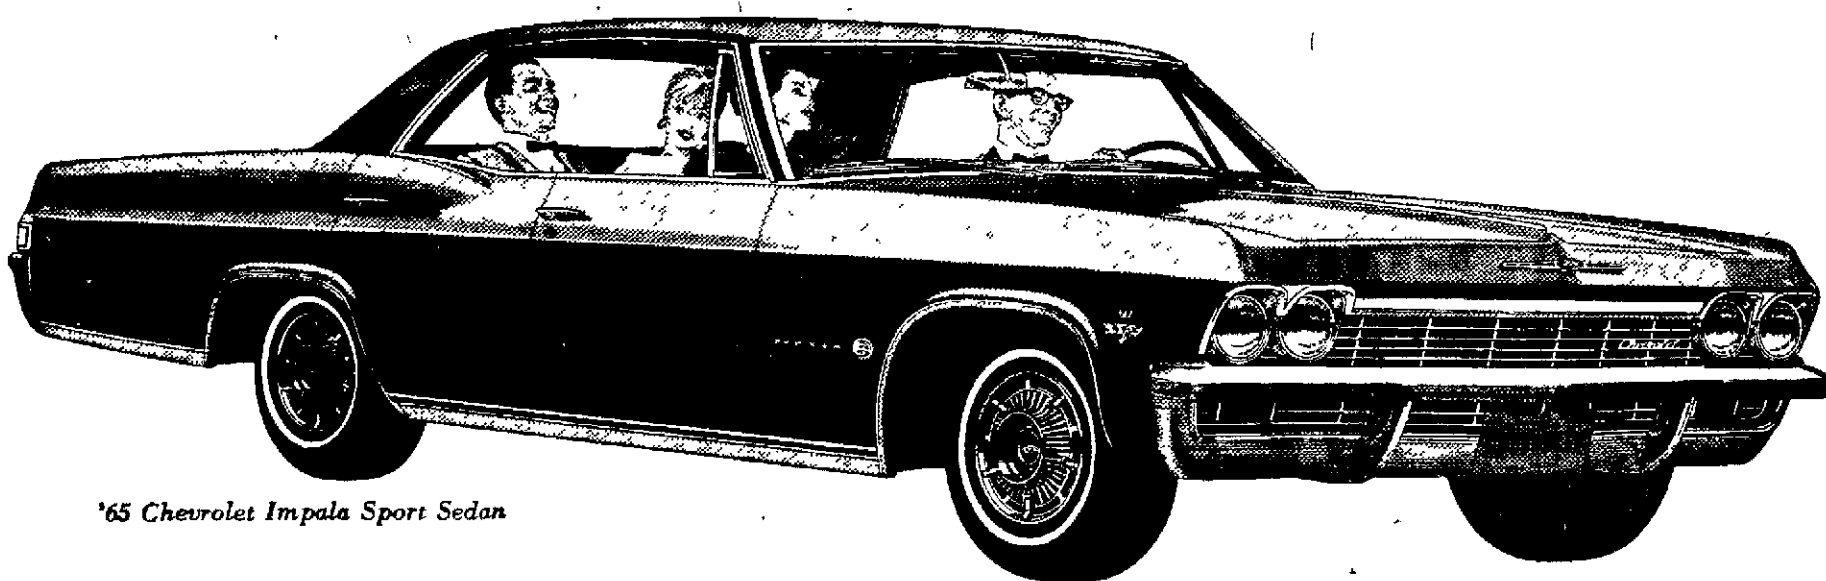

Three hundred Angora goats were reported destroyed on the Robert H. Walter ranch north of Santa Rosa.

Michael Turnick, Santa Rosa fire marshal, said the carnage of wildlife was pitiful.

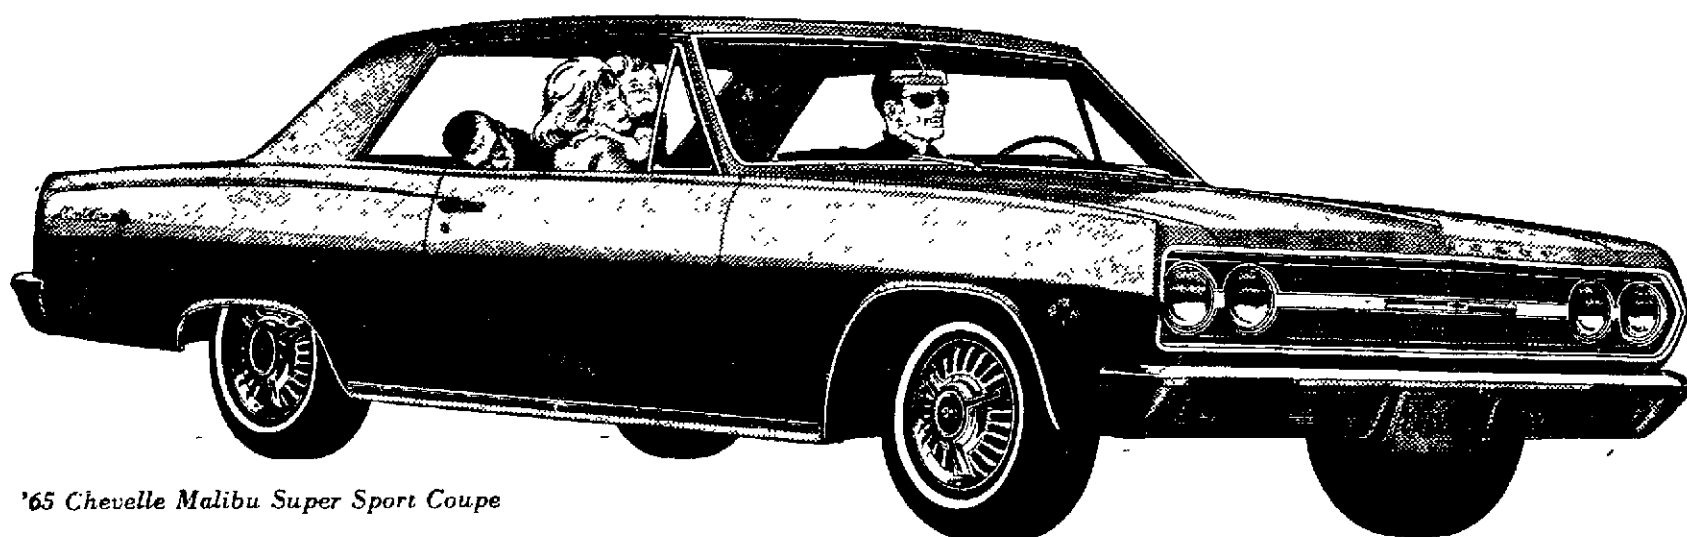

Turnick said he saw animals trying to get through fences to get away from the fires.

"I saw a fawn that was so tired he just stood there while the fire came on," he said.

Chevrolet Impala '65

One look at it and—presto—last year's crop of cars seem like something that happened a long time ago. It's longer, lower, wider—with interior comforts that'll have many an expensive car wondering why it didn't think of them first. More shoulder room, more leg room up front. Curved side windows, rich new fabrics and an instrument panel that's a conversation piece all by itself. In fact, just about everything's new right down to the road. And even that'll seem newer because the Jet-smooth ride is smoother than ever. But if all this seems like a bit too much to remember, don't try. Just take a drive at your dealer's. It'll all become unforgettable.

Chevelle Malibu '65

New style, new ride—and plenty of V8 stuff. Here's all that made Chevelle America's most popular new-sized car—plus some surprises that promise to make it come on even stronger. Like those cleaner, bolder lines. Like the silky way it skims over the choppiest roads, thanks to softer coil springs and other suspension refinements. Like V8 power that'll make you think we stole some of Corvette's stuff—which we did. All told, five engines are available from a quieter six to a V8 that comes on 300 horses strong. Some people might have expected us to stand pat after introducing a car this successful last year. One drive will show you how wrong they were.

Chevy II Nova '65

It may very well be the expensive-est looking thrift car you've laid eyes on. But thrifty it is. The big difference being that Chevy II's marvelous mechanical efficiency now comes decked out in a debonair new look. And to keep in stride under the hood, there's a new range of six engines available, including a new 300-hp V8. Of course, you still get those famous Chevy II maintenance reducers—like self-adjusting brakes, long-lived exhaust system and battery-saving Delcotron generator. But if you go by all the fine new features, you could get the idea that saving you money was about the last thing we had in mind—if it weren't for that price sticker on the window.

Corvair Corsa '65

There's never been a Corvair—or any other car—like it. The entire line now sports a totally new Body by Fisher, styled with fresh, sophisticated flair that would set a European's pulse fluttering. The longer, wider design gives all Corvair closed models a thin-line hardtop roof, accented by frameless curved side windows. It also allows more shoulder and entrance room. And to go with the racier look, there's up to 180 hp available in the new Corsa series, up to 140 hp in the Monza and 500 series. Also a flatter riding independent suspension system, more responsive steering, and a wider road stance. Truth is, you've got to drive this one to believe it.

State to Request Federal Aid for County Port

Seek $11,000 for New Outagamie Airfield Facilities

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The State Aeronautics Commission will be asked at its meeting Friday to recommend to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) a tentative allocation of federal aid of $511,000 for financing the new Outagamie County Airport.

The federal aid request will be recommended to the commission by Fritz Wolf, a state agency hearing examiner who held a hearing on the Outagamie County project recently.

State officials emphasized today the aid reservation request, from prospective 1965 federal aid appropriations, will be "tentative."

Future Study

Whether the amount suggested will be approved in Washington and whether state aid allocations will be authorized for the project also, will depend upon future determinations of the FAA and state agency.

Wolf will tell the state commission he endorsed the federal aid request on the basis of the general aviation service potential of the new Outagamie County facility.

The state examiner has recommended tentative endorsement of federal aid funds to support the construction of a runway 5,200 feet long and 100 feet wide, a taxi-way, aprons, a lighting system and some land contribution.

NFO Pickets At Dale Stockyard

Outagamie County Sheriff deputies were called about 9 a.m. when NFO members refused to leave the packing company property after being asked to do so by Armour buyer, Ken Mainville, Green Bay. They left the yard, however, before deputies arrived.

Robert Matz, New London, Outagamie NFO chairman, said the sheriff department had been notified of the organization's intent to picket at the yard.

NFO members did not attempt to prevent stock from entering the yard and only on occasion did they talk to the shippers in an effort to persuade them from selling stock.

Sheriff authorities and NFO members conferred for more than a half-hour.

Milwaukee Road, CNW Agree on Merger Terms

CHICAGO (AP) — The managements of the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad announced today they have agreed on the principal terms for a proposed merger of the two rail lines.

The announcement was made by William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee, and Ben W. Henneman, chairman of the North Western.

The two companies — if the union is approved finally by the managements, directors, stockholders and the Interstate Commerce Commission — would be blended into the nation's longest railroad—21,325 miles.

Unification of the two carriers would produce a sprawling network of nearly 22,000 miles in 15 states, a system second in length only to one proposed by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Burlington and a small Northwest connecting line.

Grateful Chilton Immigrant Gives United States, Church Half of Estate

CHILTON — Because her adopted land and a Catholic church were good to her, an immigrant laborer has willed half the residue of her estate to the United States and the church.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has been notified by Chilton Attorney F. J. Schmieder of the request of Mrs. Nick (Anna) Salaja, route 4, who lived here many years.

Mrs. Salaja, who died July 31 at the age of 78, designated in her will that the United States of America and St. Mary Catholic Church, Chilton, should

This is the site where school bus driver Orville Balhazor spotted the body of Mrs. Violet Figlinski, 60, near Navarino Tuesday morning. The spot is across Shawano County Trunk W from the Figlinski home. The woman's throat had been slashed, and the body was partially nude. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Little Man Lonely Again

Shotgun Willie Has Lost His Drinking Partner and Buddy, Vi

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The world will be different now for Shotgun Willie Figlinski. He has lost his drinking partner, Vi, whose rotund 200-pound body was found in a ditch Tuesday morning, throat slit and clothing in disarray and partially removed.

Shotgun Willie is really Andrew Figlinski, a bewildered little man who Tuesday afternoon was deeply engrossed in mourning his sorrow at a Seymour bar. After all, Vi was the victim of a slaying which, as murder goes, was most foul indeed.

Soon Willie will venture once again on his visits to the area dumps to collect discarded bottles which he sells for two cents each. He'll be doing it without Vi.

He'll wander around a little alone in his car, choose a grocer to trade with. Then, without Vi's advice, he'll probably get a ring of baloney, a gallon or two of gas for his car. Then, once again, he may choose to drown his sorrows with the remainder.

Willie and Vi quarreled a bit in the taverns, raising their voices sharply to each other, but complaining to one another, but their spats were not serious. They were cohorts, buddies, drinking pals.

Monday it was that way. Willie and Vi had been making the rounds until about 7 p.m. They had a little more and Vi even bought a couple of drinks. But when they arrived, Willie just went home. Vi would find her way later. She always managed, even at her age, 60.

When Orville Balhazor, a bus driver for the Navarino school, system discovered Vi's heavy body — that's the next time Willie saw Vi. It was 7:30 a.m. and the gentle bus driver suffered severely from the shock.

Wondered Why Willie told police officers: "I wondered why she didn't come home last night."

The home of Vi and Willie is ramshackle and rented. Covered with a silver-toned tarpaper, it wasn't a bad house for a couple. Willie and Vi. One doesn't find too many exchangeable bottles in dumps these days.

But in recent days, Vi had been jubilant.

"I'm coming into some money pretty soon," she told tavern pals. "I'm going to get a place of my own, a real nice place."

As the days went by, Vi's visions of money seemed to grow larger, more expansive. Monday night, she announced: "I got the money I got $50,000."

Vi's fortune, whatever it was to be, had not really come to her but it was nice to talk about. Her mother had died in Milwaukee but the will had not yet been probated although Vi liked to talk about it.

Vi was Willie's third wife but now, once more, he is alone and living in the small house with the junk strewn back yard where he keeps two fiercely at-

NEENAH — A stipulation of guilt was signed by Gerald A. Jawson, Hustisford, who forfeited a bond of $54.50. Jawson was charged with driving 55 miles per hour in a 25 mph zone on N. Commercial Street and Forest Avenue at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

City Home Seeks Higher Nursing, Room Charges

Home Nearly Obsolete, Says Welfare Chief

Appleton will need a new city home by 1970, Welfare Director Merton Ehrlicke said Tuesday. He made the comment during a meeting of the common council's welfare-ordinance committee at the city hall.

It came shortly after the committee agreed the residence next to the City Home on Spencer Street is not worth repairing and should be razed.

The committee made such a recommendation to the board of public works which meets next week.

Old Residence

The old residence adjacent to the City Home was formerly occupied by the home administrator. However, the new administrator will continue to live at his regular Appleton residence.

"The old residence should be discontinued immediately and razed," Ehrlicke said.

Explaining the City Home presently has a waiting list and is also an old building, Ehrlicke said a new home would definitely be needed before the end of the decade.

"I have information from the state that more cities are going into municipally-operated homes for the aged," Ehrlicke said.

Olson Raps MAGIC Move

State Official Speaks at Ceremony With Appleton GOP

Lt. Gov. Jack Olson today said he was "deeply concerned about the governor's refusal to take a position on Atty. Gen. George Thompson's demand State Insurance Commissioner Charles Manson be removed from office."

Olson, who met with Outagamie County Republicans at an reception in Appleton, said, "While Gov. Reynolds is quietly sitting on the lid, Thompson's investigation into the activities of Madison, American Guaranty Insurance Corporation (MAGIC) is reported to be opening a Pandora's box — fuming with alleged improper business transactions and conflicts of interest."

"Despite roadblocks and barriers hastily erected by Commissioner Manson to forestall the attorney general's investigation," Olson said, "Thompson has responsibly continued his investigation to expose alleged business irregularities of this firm."

Olson said since the start of the investigations, two of MAGIC's top officers have already resigned, and avoided a hearing into their business activities in the firm.

"Ironically," said Olson, "their resignation follows closely on the heels of Commissioner Manson's statement that 'all assets and investments of MAGIC are in order' — a statement made after Commissioner Manson's office had been looking into MAGIC's affairs for some weeks."

"Governor Reynolds and his hand-picked Democratic candidate for attorney general are being strangely silent on this whole issue," Olson said.

Jerry Kramer, Packer Guard, Has Operation

GREEN BAY (AP)—Exploratory surgery was performed Friday on Green Bay Packer All-Pro guard Jerry Kramer, who had been bothered in recent weeks with an infection, periodic fevers and loss of weight.

A Packer spokesman said doctors found an isolated abscess in the abdomen of the 246-pound standout player.

Kramer was expected to remain in the hospital at least for "several weeks," the spokesman said. It was not immediately known if further surgery would be required.

Rate Increases Approved by Welfare-Ordinance Committee; Still Needs Council Okay

Rate increases for the Appleton City Home were approved by the welfare-ordinance committee Tuesday night and now go to the city council for final okay.

Hikes in nursing care and board-room rates were recommended by Merton Ehrlicke, city welfare director.

The proposed increases: minimum nursing care residents, from $115 to $125 a month; moderate nursing care, $125 to $140; maximum nursing care, $135 to $170; room - board, $75 plus a $15 service charge, and private rooms, from $75 to $90, plus the $15 service charge.

Holding Fee

A room "holding" fee of $1.50 will be charged residents who require hospitalization and want their room reserved for them while they are away. The present charge is $1 per day.

Originally, Ehrlicke recommended a $2.50 fee but Ald. R. P. Groh (8th) was strongly opposed to it. The compromise figure was finally arrived at after considerable discussion.

"We must remember the people staying at the home are of modest means," Groh told the committee.

Ehrlicke said rate increases were necessary to meet rising operational costs.

Sewage Process Plan To be Ready in March

Kaukauna Should be Able to Start Building During July, Engineering Firm Tells Board

KAUKAUNA — A representative of the Donahue Engineering firm has informed the board of public works, final plans and specifications for providing secondary sewage treatment would be ready by March 1965 and the city could plan on starting construction sometime after July 1, 1965.

The city engaged Donahue Engineering Co., Sheboygan, to make a study of the existing sewage plant and prepare plans and specifications to modernize the plant in keeping with the wishes of the State Board of Health in its effort to reduce river pollution. A secondary sewage treatment was indicated as a necessity. This requires a minimum of 70 per cent purity in effluent fed into the river.

Most secondary plants have a much higher percentage of purity. A recent letter from the attorney general indicated the city was not moving fast enough to comply with the state order which gave the city until 1965 to begin construction on the improved sewage plant.

The Donahue firm outlined a time-table whereby the city could submit final plans and specifications to the State Board of Health for approval in April followed by an application to the board for a federal grant in aid, available under the pollution reduction program, and advertising for construction bids.

Representatives felt construction on the plant could be well underway next year with completion sometime in 1966. As the engineering firm continues preparation of plans, the city and Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company are undertaking a preliminary study relative to relocating the existing plant.

The plant currently is located near Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company buildings and moving the sewage plant further down the river would facilitate outflow of the river sewer pipe. In long range planning it would also open new area for further expansion by Thilmany.

The Donahue firm will work with the city in study of costs and site relocation in an effort to determine which course would prove most beneficial to the city from both a financial and future growth viewpoint. As the city grows, future expansion of the sewage plant is likely, and works board members feel it might be more practical to move at the present time rather than at a later date.

Meetings on relocation will be held within the next few weeks so as not to interrupt the time schedule set up by the engineering firm. The city will keep in contact with the office of the attorney general, keeping him advised and informed on progress thus enabling the state to see compliance of its order by the city.

Lawrence University Will Dedicate Science Building

Duke President Douglas Knight To Speak at Ceremony Oct. 8

Lawrence University will dedicate its new $1,900,000 Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science in ceremonies Oct. 8.

Principal speaker is Dr. Douglas M. Knight, president of Duke University. Dr. Knight was president of Lawrence during the time the building plans were made, and announced the original $1,000,000 gift from Casper E. Youngchild of Appleton, the largest individual benefaction in the institution's 117-year history.

Dr. Knight will speak on "The Humane Sciences" at a 10:40 a.m. academic convocation in the First Methodist Church. Lawrence's own auditorium, the Memorial Chapel, is undergoing extensive remodeling, so the ceremony cannot be held on the campus.

After a luncheon, the official party will adjourn to Youngchild Hall at 1:30 to lay the cornerstone and tour the building. President and Mrs. Knight will be guests of honor at a reception at 2 p.m. in Memorial Union. The Youngchild building stands next to and is connected with the older Stephenson Hall of Science, which has been completely remodeled in connection with the new building project. Stephenson Hall measured 22,638 square feet of instruction space; the net total of the two buildings is 60,195 square feet.

Two features of Youngchild Hall are new to the campus: a radioactive facility and a room for the computer center established for research and administrative processes.

The two buildings house Lawrence's facilities in anthropology, biology, chemistry, geology, psychology, physics and mathematics.

Among the more than 120 rooms in the building are a number of spaces shared between departments: a 2,236 square foot lecture room with an adjacent preparation room, four seminar rooms, darkroom and shops for glass blowing, wood and metal work. There are 16 general laboratories, 23 research laboratories and 12 offices in the new building.

Judge Delays Schade Case

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Following a trial featuring a mass of confused and contradictory testimony, the case of Desmond G. Schade, 54, Appleton, a former member of the Outagamie County Board, was taken under advisement by Judge James Byers in Brown County Court Branch 2 Tuesday afternoon.

Schade was charged with reckless driving in an accident at an exit from a City Stadium parking lot after a Packer game last Oct. 6. Schade was charged with reckless driving after he allegedly refused to obey orders of Merlin Younk, Sheriff's deputy on duty at the exit.

The $1,900,000 Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science, the largest building project in Lawrence University's 117-year history, will be dedicated on Oct. 8, although it will be occupied by classes beginning Monday. Dr. Douglas M. Knight, president of Duke University who was head of Lawrence during the time the plans were made and the initial gift received, will be the dedicatory speaker. Youngchild, for whom the building was named, died last March.

New Post Office Okayed in Neenah

Building to Replace 1917 Vintage Site

NEENAH — Approval of a new post office building for Neenah by the post office department was announced today in Washington by Sens. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire. No time schedule was included in the announcement.

The building will provide 19,000 square feet of space and will replace the present structure, built in 1917, which provides less than half of the necessary space.

The new building will be built by a private contractor, according to government specifications and leased to the federal government, according to the announcement. The post office department is seeking a site and will ask for bids from private contractors shortly.

The new building will include 2,444 square feet of platform space and 23,000 square feet of adjacent parking area.

The announcement today caps a campaign extending over many years by the Neenah advancement committee of the Chamber of Commerce, heavy users of the mails and citizens. The group has been working closely with the post office department.

Disadvantages cited in the campaign included the traffic problem on S. Commercial Street and the lack of parking. Use of the post office has increased from 50,000 pieces of mail daily only five years ago to more than 150,000 daily now. Receipts in 10 years jumped from $134,000 to $580,000.

Because of lack of space at the building itself, carriers now are based in a building on Main Street, necessitating extra transfer and handling of mail, while parcel post is sorted on the loading dock which is not enclosed. Postmaster John Dachel earlier indicated that the Main Street facilities for the carriers were becoming too small also. During the Christmas rush extra facilities have been rented for the handling of parcel post. Many complaints also have been received over the lack of lobby space.

The General Services Administration had indicated that the Neenah post office should be abandoned in 1964 and refused to spend any money on additions or any but the most vital repairs.

First Speaker Named for C of C Forum

Robert R. Spitzer,

Robert R. Spitzer, president and general manager of Murphy Products Company Inc., Burlington, Wis., will be the first speaker in the Appleton Chamber of Commerce's annual forum for service clubs.

Spitzer will speak on "Freedom—Mightier Than Missiles" at noon Monday, Oct. 12, in the Conway Hotel, at a joint meeting of the Chamber and Appleton service clubs.

NEENAH — Neenah's frosh gridders make their second start of the season Thursday afternoon at Kimberly.

Report Attempt At Burglary

Suspected forced entry of the warehouse and office of Weather Title Co., 1849 W. Packard St., sometime Monday night was reported to police Tuesday morning.

Owner Ronald Kendler, told police he noticed the lock portion of the office door knob was projecting from its normal recess when he arrived at 8 a.m. Tuesday. A check showed nothing disturbed in the warehouse or office and no other evidence of attempted entry.

John Weber, locksmith, who was called to repair the door lock verified the possibility of tampering, but said mechanical failure involving a lock spring also was possible.

Derailment Damages Station in Missouri

LA PLATA, Mo. (AP) — The Wabash Railroad station in La Plata was damaged extensively Monday evening as 15 cars of a fense for the Red and White while Bondow and fullback Dan Jankowski ran well.

Others who saw extensive action were John Lagodney, Rick Spice, Dennis Bayer, Mike Miller, David Rhodes, Gary Steinway, Steve Laux, Keith Parmen and Ken Guy in the line and Dan Blank and Mark Eastwood, backs.

Kimberly played to a scoreless tie with Wilson in its opening. Neenah won last year's renewal, 34-0, extending its winning streak to 15 straight games.

latest innovations in the calculator line.

The laboratory is located in the basement of the Polk Memorial Library, near the archives section. Demonstrations programs of this type are presented each semester to familiarize students, instructors, and townspeople who have problems in the physical or behavioral sciences, education, or other area of a quantitative nature with the facilities of the university laboratory. The lab is open daily from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The open house is 1 to 4 p.m. at the lab location in the basement of Polk Library.

During the afternoon, representatives from calculator manufacturers will present special applications of the machines now owned or leased by the university. Expected are Bob Shields and Jim Erickson from SCM (Marchant), Bob Thomas from Frieden, Don Clochesy from Monroe, and Jack Grist from Woodward-Olivetti.

Machines to be demonstrated vary from printing calculators, adding machines operated by hand, to machines which find two squares and the sum of the cross-product (solving the binomial) in one operation, to one machine which will compute a square root at the touch of a lever, according to Lee Snyder, laboratory assistant. Arrangements may be completed for special showings of each firm's

No one was injured. Witnesses said a transient was on top of a boxcar that partly overturned, but he held on until the car came to a stop, then he climbed down and walked away.

Three Hurt in Auto Collision In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Three persons received minor injuries in an accident on Gertrude and Draper streets about 2:25 p.m. Tuesday.

Injured were Mrs. Bertha Shorter, route 1, Kaukauna, bruised left knee; Carmen Shorter, 4, route 1, Kaukauna, cut lip, and Mrs. Daniel Hopfensperger, 1833 N. Charlotte St., Appleton, bruised right hip.

According to police, a car driven by Mrs. Carol Ann Shorter, route 1, Kaukauna, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Bertha Shorter and mother of Carmen, was going south on Gertrude Street, failed to stop for a stop sign and collided with a car driven by Daniel Hopfensperger, 1833 N. Charlotte St., Appleton.

Trend Uneven In Active Trade

Airline Issues Gain as Result of Increased Traffic

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon with airlines the one strong group. Trading was fairly active.

Most changes of key stocks were fractional.

Airlines displayed a string of gains ranging to a point or better. Brokers said a big August increase in airline traffic helped the stock to rally.

All Big Three motors took small losses. General Motors took a fractional loss as the Friday strike deadline approached and GM said it would "hold the line" on 1965 car prices.

The major steelmakers also took losses, mostly fractional. Oils and drugs edged higher on balance. Chemicals declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 325.5 with industrials off .6, rails up .5 and utilities up 3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .28 at 872.19.

As airlines made strides, Delta rose 1 1/2 to 60 on a block of 10,000 shares. American and United advanced more than a point each. Pan American tacked on a point, Eastern a fraction.

A report of their agreement on merger terms did nothing much for Chicago & North Western and the Milwaukee Railroad. Initial steadiness wilted under some profit-taking on recent strength in both carriers, then each stock came back to trade about unchanged.

Small gains by Jersey Standard, Union Carbide, Sears Roebuck, American Smelting, Commonwealth Edison and General Electric helped stabilize stock averages.

IBM gained 2 while Polaroid sank more than 2. Xerox rose 1. Control Data fell more than 2.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

arrangements, announced the program. He will introduce the speaker.

Spitzer, born in 1922 and raised on a Waukesha County farm, reached the presidency of his company before his 37th birthday. He has spoken throughout the United States on Americanism, opportunity, education and freedom.

UW Degree
Spitzer was educated at the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in agriculture, a master of science degree in chemistry and animal nutrition and a doctorate in animal nutrition.

He came to Murphy Products Co., a manufacturer of animal and poultry feeds, as director of research in 1947, and has served as vice president of research and promotion, executive vice president and president. He became president and general manager in 1960.

Spitzer is a director of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, a director of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, vice president of the UW Alumni Association and vice president of the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, and holds membership in more than 15 professional and scientific societies. He has served as warden of his church, president of his Rotary Club and president of the Burlington Hospital board, and is active in other civic affairs.

Honored For Work
His work has been recognized with honors from the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, industrial and agricultural organizations. He received the Wisconsin 4-H Club Award in 1959 and 1963.

He was a volunteer campaign worker backing Republican Congressman Henry C. Shadeberg, First District. Spitzer was selected as a member of Wisconsin's 32-man Agricultural Goodwill Mission which traveled to Russia, Poland, Hungary, Belgium, France, Germany and England under the "People to People" program. He will show slides taken in Iron Curtain countries and discuss his experiences, work and belief in America in the Chamber forum speech.

Collagen Diseases Very Difficult to Diagnose

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told by three different doctors that I have one of the collagen diseases, but they cannot tell me which one. I have weak, tired muscles and am very short of breath. X-ray shows spots of moisture on my lungs. What about these diseases and their symptoms?

MRS. C. E. tom. Also fatigue and aching or sore muscles, or joint pains (rheumatic fever is thought to belong in the category of collagen diseases). If the skin is involved, it can become thick and tense, and in some cases discolored — a red-dened "butterfly pattern" across the nose is often but not always seen in lupus. Or blood and albumin will appear in the urine if there is kidney involvement. And so on.

Difficult Identification In addition, over a period of time, a collagen disorder may merge into another so that more than one will be present. All this helps show why a condition may be diagnosed as a collagen disease yet it may be extremely difficult to say which one or ones may be present. The outlook may not be as gloomy as this sounds, however. In general the collagen diseases are not of the fatal type. It is true that they can be. Certain acute forms of lupus, and of rheumatic fever, may be. Yet more often they are not fatal, although they are chronic and frustrating because they cannot be quickly and permanently cleared up. Treatment is primarily with steroids (cortisone and its derivatives) and must be continued over an extended time in order to keep the ailment suppressed. Because the collagen diseases take so many different forms, a physician has to maintain a high degree of suspicion when he first encounters a case. Thereafter a variety of tests may be required. In some instances a special type of "Le cell" appears in the blood and can be detected by suitable studies. Muscle and skin biopsies are other tests sometimes needed for diagnosis.

The collagen diseases are grouped together because they involve the supporting substance of tissue. In other respects they differ enormously. They have such jaw-breaking names as lupus erythematosus, scleroderma, periarthritis nodosa and dermatomyositis.

Some primarily attack the skin, others the muscles, or the small arteries. Almost any organ of the body can be involved.

For this reason symptoms may be vastly dissimilar. In general, fever is often a symp-

Suggestions Earn Money

Pays to Tell the Boss How to Run Business

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

One way to help yourself is to tell the boss how to run the place better. Last year, for example, some 400,000 employees in U. S. industry earned at least $19 million in bonus money for suggestions that increased efficiency.

Knock on any five doors in America and chances are that within one of those households someone is suffering from arthritis.

Some pediatricians say that motorists traveling with children shouldn't journey more than 250 miles in a day. This includes squirmage.

Insect Menace
Beating bugs seems to be one of our greatest problems. According to the World Health Organization, insects cause half of all human deaths and eat or ruin a third of everything that mankind grows or tries to store away.

Quoteable notables. "To play great music, you must keep your eyes on a distant star" — violinist Yehudi Menuhin.

It has been estimated that more than a billion-and-a-half people go to bed hungry most nights.

Did you know that during the six-week hay fever season some 12 million victims will sneeze into 100 billion paper facial tissues?

So what else is new? Well, I am told that the petrel is the most abundant bird in the world. And so far as I know I have never seen one or met a human being who bragged that he had one.

One of the surest ways to earn a living is to learn how to fix an automobile. We have more than 61 million motor vehicles on the road, and only 750,000 mechanics.

Speaking of autos, it is figured that the 43,000 traffic fatalities last year represent the loss of more than two million precious years of possible life.

A check of some 300 major league baseball players shows that their favorite game off the diamond is contract bridge. Pinochle is next in popularity followed by poker and gin rummy.

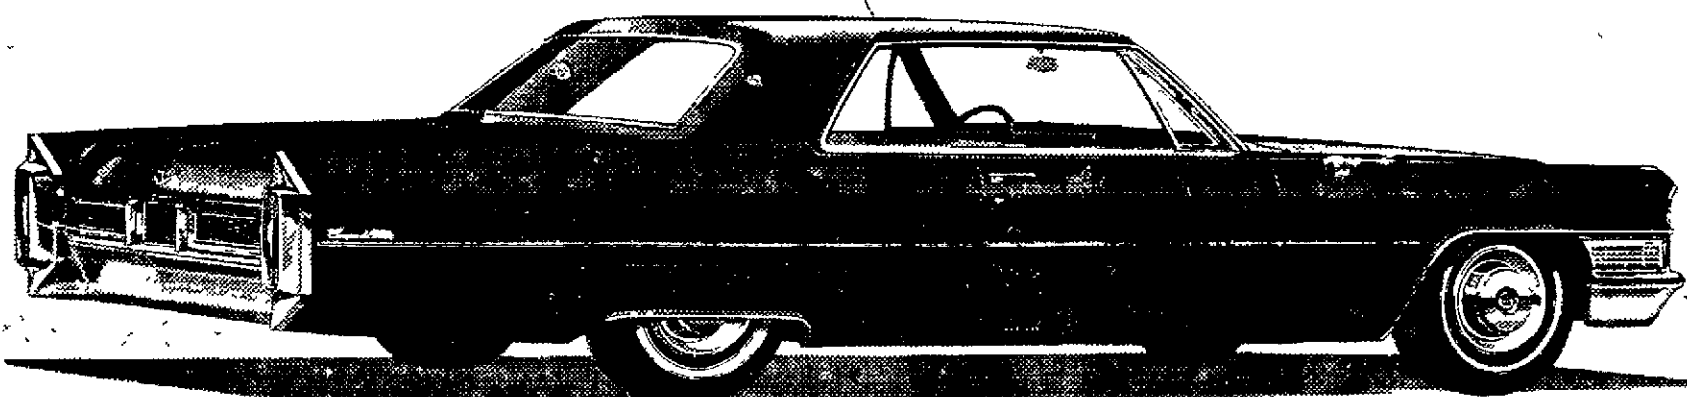

We now customarily address our President as "Mr. President," but — in 1789 a committee of the U. S. Senate formally decided that he should be greeted as "His Highness, the President of the United States and the Protector of Their Liberties." His last and only Highness was George Washington.

Cancer Cures
Remember how much fun it used to be to eat in the kitchen? Well, this year some 1.3 billion American meals were or will be eaten outdoors.

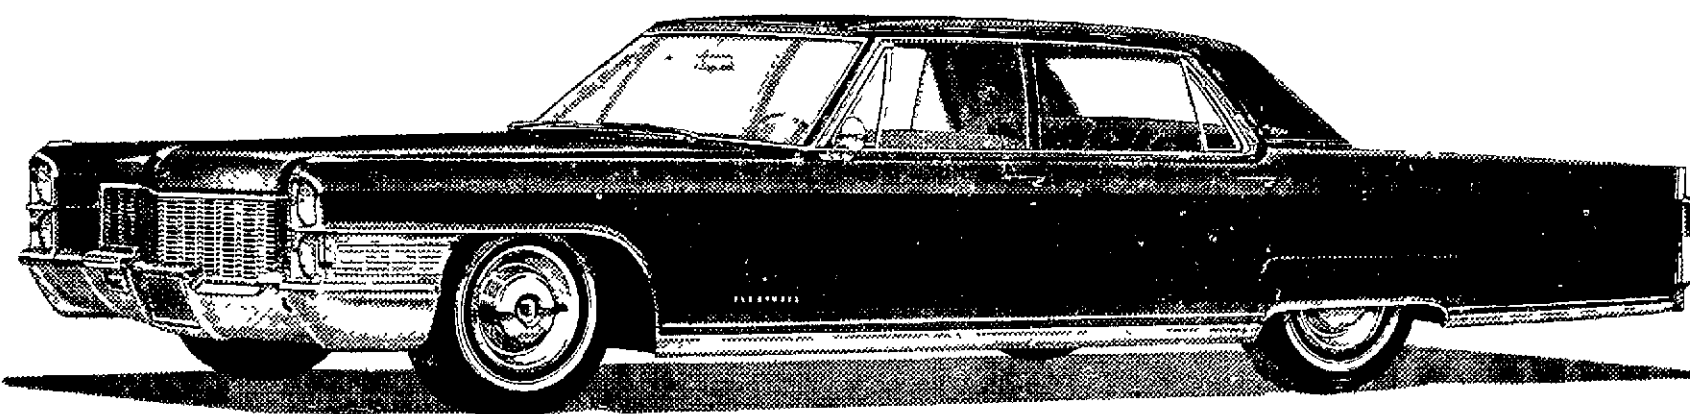

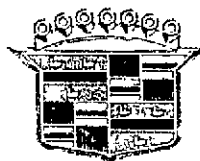

The most hopeful fact about cancer is this: In 1937 only one out of seven persons survived its diagnosis — and now one out of three does.

It was British Premier Harold Macmillan who observed, "you must be like an oak tree — your branches spreading out widely so that the new saplings may grow in their shade. You must not be a beech tree, growing so straight that you give no shade to the next generation."

State Life Fund Enjoys Growth Despite Attack

Insurance Firms Say Wisconsin Is Hurting Business

The State of Wisconsin has been in the life insurance business for more than a half century and it seems every knock has been a boost.

A nemesis to private insurance companies and salesmen is the State Life Fund, created by an act of the legislature in 1911.

At every session of the legislature, the State Life Fund has been under attack but always survives and enjoys a spurt in business.

The latest report on the State Life Fund shows 704 new policies were issued in 1963, amounting to $4,636,130 worth of cover.

Today, the Fund has 4,282 policies in force with a total coverage of $18,998,910.

Large Dividends
Large dividends lower the net premiums for the state insurance, and private firms have been trying to get the state out of the insurance business. Spokesmen for those firms say they can't compete, and point out that state employees and money are being used to operate the state program.

The Fund is under the direct supervision of the commissioner of insurance, Charles Manson. Under the law, the state bureau of finance audits all accounts certified by the insurance commissioner.

State Personnel
In addition, the state treasurer serves as treasurer for the fund; investments are managed by the state investment board; and the state board of health cooperates with the insurance commissioner in the medical selection of applicants. The State Life Fund issues participating life insurance policies on standard risks, subject to additional premiums for extra occupational hazards. Premium rates and reserves are based on the American Experience Table of Mortality and three per cent interest.

Insurance is available to anyone who is within the state at the time the insurance is granted, and applicants must be at least 10 years of age. Policies, once in force, are not affected by subsequent removal of the insured from the state.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Charles Helou, a former diplomat and lawyer, took the oath of office today as Lebanon's fourth president since independence from France in 1943.

Barry Slaps 'Handouts' For Defense

Goldwater Says Johnson Policy of 'Subsidies' Will Lead to 'National Suicide'

BY WALTER R. MEARS

DALLAS, Tex. —(AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater said today President Johnson wants to cut defense spending in favor of "handouts here, subsidies there," and declared: "That way lies national suicide."

Drumming criticism of the Democrats' foreign and defense policies, the Republican presidential nominee said that if the United States is to halt communism and safeguard freedom "we must be stronger than the enemy by far."

"We must realize that the responsible use of power — to deter those with hostile intent — is not so largely to provoke all-out war as it is to prevent war," Goldwater said in an address prepared for the American Legion's national convention.

"If the Communists believe the odds favor them," the Arizona senator said, "they will not hesitate to hit us with their most fearsome weapons."

Goldwater said the administration now proposes "to cut our military spending in order to provide funds for sticking the government's fingers in a still larger mess of pie — for handouts here, subsidies there."

He said that effort is likely to end up "draining the public's purse" and doing more harm than good.

"There is no surer way to condemn this nation to the status of a second-rate power, incapable of exerting influence in the world at large, than to fritter away taxable capacity in do-gooder schemes that waste our substance," he said. "The experience of Britain is a striking example of how that can happen."

Goldwater called for "true economy, not the false economy of weakening our defenses."

He said the only rein on Communist maneuvers in the cold war is "their hard-headed, cold-blooded assessment of the risk they must face."

"Respect Power" "It is not compassion or decency which prevents their attacking us," Goldwater said.

"They respect our power and they fear provoking its use against them."

He said American foreign policy based on "false answers" to cold war threats has made Communist expansion "altogether too easy."

"The worst of the false answers is that the Communists will stop being hostile if we accommodate them," Goldwater said. He called that a naive misreading of Communist intent.

He said that thesis "directed the settlement of the Cuban crisis, the nuclear test ban treaty and the sale of wheat to Russia."

"It prompted so much American aid to Russia during and after World War II that we can honestly say that much of modern industrial Russia is a creation of the American taxpayer," Goldwater said.

Linking East Coast, Missouri Valley

Rail Empire Will be Born Next Month

NEW YORK (AP) — A mighty new railroad empire nearly four years in the making will link the Missouri Valley to the East Coast next month.

Its formal creation under sponsorship of the Norfolk & Western Railway will mark a giant step toward reorganization of the nation's rail network into perhaps a dozen regional systems.

The greater Norfolk & Western, barring an 11th-hour hitch, will begin taking shape Oct. 16 under a consolidation plan involving five other roads.

Combined, their tracks will sprawl 7,800 miles through 14 states and cross into Canada near Buffalo, N.Y.

On the west, the tracks will link Omaha, Neb., Kansas City, Mo., St. Louis, Mo., Des Moines, Iowa, Chicago and other cities to the bustling Atlantic Coast port of Norfolk, Va., on the far side of the rich Pocahontas coal country.

Major Properties Joined with the N&W will be the Wabash and Nickel Plate railroads, both major properties, along with the 110-mile Sandusky (Ohio) line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the 171-mile Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad and the 132-mile Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway.

The track for completing the merger was cleared last week when the Pennsylvania Railroad pledged to divest itself of 31.3 per cent of N&W voting stock.

The third system started taking shape last year when the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway was authorized to control the then-ailing Baltimore & Ohio.

The Pennsy, the nation's largest railroad, announced a major move under the divestiture agreement Tuesday.

800,000 Shares Under a plan jointly announced with the N&W, 800,000 N&W shares held by the Pennsy — about one-third of the Pennsy's total holding — will be transferred to the N&W in 80-

000-share installments over the next 10 years.

The Pennsy in return will receive new N&W 4 5-8 per cent debentures convertible after three years into common at $130 a share — but only by holders other than the Pennsy.

The merger plan calls for issuance to Nickel Plate holders of .45 of a share of N&W com-

Missouri Mule Joins Vanishing Breed List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fields, harvest the crops, turn grist mills, force the sugar out of cane, haul coal from mines, and pull guns and wagons in war.

Bred by pioneers to help carve homesteads from the wilderness, this hardy animal also helped win three wars — the Civil, Spanish-American and World War I. His fame spread across the country and around the world.

Decrying the mule's virtual disappearance in the wake of the tractor, the Missouri Farmers Association reports that none are being bred.

"Wherever there was hard work to be done, he was there, groaning and sweating and kicking but getting the job done," the association says in the latest issue of its magazine, The Missouri Farmer.

The mule is a strong, sure-footed work animal, a creature for which there is less and less need in the world of diesel-powered tractors.

Mules Brought In Needing an animal which could stand up under the hard, endless labor of building homesteads, pioneer Missourians brought blooded jacks and jennets from Kentucky and obtained large, strong horses from Ohio to produce the hardy variety of mule.

"The result of this breeding," says the magazine, "was a marvelous creature, big-boned, shambling, weighing about 1,200 pounds. The animal had an almost endless capacity for the hardest sort of work and could thrive under conditions that would kill a horse."

The mule helped build railroads, log the forests, plow the

Met Opening Season Oct. 12

NEW YORK (AP) — Opening of the Metropolitan Opera season Oct. 12 was assured today with an agreement by union orchestra musicians to work under their old contract until Oct. 31.

Contract negotiations broke off last Friday for the second time, and musicians did not show up for rehearsals Monday. The three-year contract expired June 30.

Rudolf Bing, general manager, said the musicians would report for rehearsals of "Lucia di Lammermoor" today.

The Met has offered a five-year contract building up to 52 weeks employment with four weeks of paid vacation and a minimum annual salary of $13,500.

Local 802, American Federation of Musicians, has asked for $280 for five performances a week, and the same amount for rehearsals.

Orchestra players now get $190 for seven performances a week.

Thurmond Gains New Party, Loses Chair

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was no way of stopping Sen. Strom Thurmond from shifting to the Republican party, but the Democrats are holding on to John C. Calhoun's Senate seat.

The desk Calhoun used when he championed the Southern viewpoint before the Civil War will be inherited by Thurmond's fellow South Carolinian, Sen. Olin D. Johnston.

"I never asked for it," Johnston said Tuesday. "Thurmond asked for it after he came to the Senate as a Democrat and was assigned to it. But he couldn't take it with him when he went Republican."

He said that thesis "directed the settlement of the Cuban crisis, the nuclear test ban treaty and the sale of wheat to Russia."

Miller Slaps LBJ Debate Stand; Humphrey Claims Responsibility

GOP Vice-Presidential Candidate Says Johnson Is 'Hiding Behind Smoke Screen'

BY ROBERT T. GRAY

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — President Johnson is "hiding behind a smoke screen" to avoid campaign debate on his personal fortune and other issues, Rep. William E. Miller charged today.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate continued his hard-hitting attack on the President as he swung into the second day of an intensive campaign swing that has been dominated alternately by slashing criticism of Johnson and vigorous defenses to allegations of conflict of interest against himself.

In a series of statements and speeches from Washington to Billings, Mont., Tuesday, Miller said Democrats were raising questions about his congressional service in an effort to divert public attention from the Bobby Baker case and other scandals.

He continued hitting at the personal financial activity of President Johnson, arguing that there was public "suspicion and doubt" about the way the Johnson family acquired a fortune centered on a television station, a federally regulated activity.

Miller described the President as a man without convictions, one whose ethics needed close public scrutiny.

Attacks Johnson The GOP nominee pressed his attack against Johnson in a statement issued today as he set out on campaign stops in Idaho Falls, Ogden, Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah, and Portland, Ore.

In stops Tuesday in Indiana, Iowa, South Dakota and Montana, Miller dwelt in detail on his connections with the Lockport Felt Co. in his congressional district in upstate New York.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey and some state Democratic chairmen have called upon Miller to explain his connection with that firm.

Tuesday night in Billings, Mont., Miller said, as he had previously, that he had opposed "discriminatory wool legislation" on behalf of the company and said he had done so to protect the jobs of its workers. He said he had no stock holdings in Lockport Felt.

Miller had said earlier he was an assistant secretary and director of the firm at a salary of $7,500 per year.

Miller drew lively, enthusiastic crowds at several stops.

In speeches to farm audiences, he renewed his pledge that a Goldwater administration would mean a U.S. agriculture secretary who was a farmer and was familiar with the problems of farmers.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey told Indiana voters today that if they want a responsible president they'll have to vote Democratic.

"Responsibility has been the hallmark of the Kennedy-Johnson administration and responsibility is the single quality which most distinguishes President Johnson from the leader of the Goldwater faction," the Democratic vice-presidential candidate told a courthouse rally in this southwestern Indiana city.

We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions—and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.

Seven Schools Admitted to Valley Council

Appleton Catholic Institutions Join in Curriculum Study

OSHKOSH — Appleton parochial schools were admitted to membership in the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council at a directors meeting Tuesday afternoon in Reeve Union of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

The schools involved are Xavier High, St. Joseph's, Sacred Heart, St. Mary's, St. Therese, St. Pius X, and St. Bernadette. The Rev. Richard Kleiber, superintendent of schools for the Green Bay Catholic diocese, had applied for membership for the Appleton Catholic schools, listing five points wherein the parochial schools could benefit from the study council.

First was that the area of influence of the Fox Valley Curriculum Study council was approximately that encompassed by the diocese. The second was that a large percentage of eighth grade graduates from the parochial schools transfer to public schools.

His third point was that by adopting a single program in all the schools, "we may facilitate a similar action on the rest of the school districts such as happened with the adopting of modern mathematics by our schools."

Father Kleiber listed as his fourth point that private schools may be freer to experiment than public schools.

"We feel we can benefit greatly by listening to your problems and seeing the solutions which are proposed," Father Kleiber cited as the fifth point in his application on behalf of the Appleton schools.

The directors also discussed the results of a study made in the Neenah school system of the effect of grouping by sex at the first and second grade levels.

Plans for the study of high school experiences and post-graduate success of non-college bound youth in the Fox River Valley also was discussed by the study council directors. Private industry is helping finance the study which will begin this fall and extend for five years.

Estimated cost for this study is $64,000 over the five-year period.

Donald N. Promer, 22, 504 Margaret St., Kaukauna, was fined $40 and costs by Judge D. H. Seborra on charges of inattentive driving.

Promer was involved in a two-car accident Sept. 5 at State 114 and U.S. 10. Driver of the other car was Raymond Schroeder, route 1, Menasha. He forfeited bond Monday.

Nurse Training Course May Be Included in WSU-O Expansion

Education Coordinating Committee to Study Proposal in October Session

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — New state-supported nursing education programs in the Fox River Valley will probably be associated with the expanding curriculum of Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh, an informed source in Wisconsin higher education administration has reported.

A sub-committee on the development of nursing and related services of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education has such a proposal under advisement, and will report its recommendation to the coordinating committee in October.

Deliberated Plan Six months ago the committee was deliberating a plan to launch a cooperative nursing education program at the Fox Valley Center of the University of Wisconsin at Menasha, in collaboration with Theda Clark Hospital at Neenah.

The report of the committee headed by Dr. W. D. Stovall will emphasize the critical need for bachelor's degree training in nursing to combat a shortage of qualified nurses throughout the state, and will also urge the development of graduate training for nurses to meet shortages of nursing teachers.

One state university, Eau Claire, has already approved the inauguration of a four-year nurse training course, and expects to enroll its first students next fall.

A spokesman said the proposed Oshkosh nurse training program would be in collaboration with all the hospitals in Winnebago County for the benefit of the nurse supply of the valley. He added that it will probably be supplemented later by the inclusion of a nurse training curriculum at the new four-year higher education institution in the Fox Valley area which has already been endorsed by the coordinating committee. That proposal will be before the 1965 legislature.

Supply Valley A spokesman said the proposed Oshkosh nurse training program would be in collaboration with all the hospitals in Winnebago County for the benefit of the nurse supply of the valley. He added that it will probably be supplemented later by the inclusion of a nurse training curriculum at the new four-year higher education institution in the Fox Valley area which has already been endorsed by the coordinating committee. That proposal will be before the 1965 legislature.

Court Delays Action Against Appleton Man OSHKOSH — County Judge James Sitter adjourned until Sept. 30 further proceedings on burglary charges brought against David Lee Hahn, 20, 2637 S. Jackson St., Appleton.

Calumet County also may consolidate with Winnebago County charges of similar alleged offenses. Hahn is charged with burglary of Gib's Sinclair Service Station, 333 Main St., The Ne Ave., all in Neenah, on Sept. Auto Mat, 320 Main St., and the 18.

Parking Lot Problem Won't Delay Store

Park 'N' Market Has Enough Land For Customer Use

The action of the board of appeals this week is holding in abeyance permission for an employee parking lot next to a proposed supermarket should not delay construction of the new shopping complex, Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th) said today.

Officials of Park "N" Market intend to build a store on the former Southside Athletic Club property at 1726 S. Lawe St. in Krueger's ward.

Krueger indicated the firm has enough land on which to build and construct a customer parking lot for 350 cars. He said, however, that some residents have objected to authorizing a non-conforming use to permit an employee parking area which would border residences. He favors the store construction.

Krueger, along with William H. Cuffey, 1801 S. Carpenter St., who also appeared before the board, said there was no opposition to the supermarket, but rather the request to allow employee parking in small lot (now zoned residential) near the proposed building.

Both indicated the minutes of the board's Monday night meeting dwell on a drainage problem rather than the matter of the non-conforming use.

Building Inspector Charles Magnette said today the board meeting records were correct and any changes would have to be made at the next meeting if members so desired.

Catholics Urged to Broaden Their Thinking

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—Catholics must narrow their vision to focus on Christ and broaden their thinking and activities to include all peoples of the world, the Rev. Orville Janssen, editor of the Green Bay Register, told 2,500 Catholic school teachers Tuesday.

"To do this, and to attain our mankind, the Catholic church must change. It is up to teachers in Catholic schools to bridge the gap between the 'changing, few years ago," Father Janssen exclaimed, referring to a new Catholic belief that "we should help. Protestants live better Protestant lives." He explained this would be furthering christianity and thus the will of God.

Wednesday, Sept. 23, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent B9

He also said that the church is putting new stress on the "written word of God," (the Bible) as the Protestants have for years.

Vocational Counsel
 Changes in the liturgy, such as more use of English in the mass, will also bring Christ closer to the people.

Father Janssen did not urge change for change sake.

Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, attending the first convention in five years, stressed the need for religious and lay teachers to counsel the youth of today on vocations.

He said the strength of the church in America, and many of the nations who rely on this country for missionary works, depends on young people entering religious life.

The convention schedule called for talks by the Rev. James Sheehan, executive director of the Detroit Archdiocese Commission on Human Rights, the Rev. Joseph Leonard, S.S.J., Washington, D.C., William Reedy, a noted layman and Catholic writer and the Rev. Anthony Polini, O. Praem, a Premonstratense High School counselor.

Twilight Club Cruises to Hawaii

Hawaii came to the Mainland Saturday evening, settling among the palms and flowers of the Menasha Elks Club. In a colorful island setting the Twilight Dance Club held an Hawaiian luau. Members dressed their parts, wearing rough straw hats, colorful flowered dresses, and sport shirts. Flowers adorned coiffures and tables, and leis were draped in true Hawaiian style.

The menu carried out the tropic theme, with barbecued ribs, ham with pineapple, chicken in wine sauce, fried rice, sweet potatoes and fruit and melon salad preceding coconut-rolled ice cream for dessert.

For dancing, the music was Hawaiian, with a special band serving up island melodies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jahnke were chairmen of the affair.

Winter Rite Planned by Engaged Pair

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuler, 1018 W. Cecil St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dana, to Richard Wideman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wideman, 1282 Glenview Drive.

Miss Schuler is employed by the Neenah Foundry Co. Her fiancé served four years in the Marine Corps and is employed at Bergstrom Paper Co.

A winter wedding is planned.

give up. Pick yourself up and keep trying. Persistence is one of the great factors in all success. And remember, you are responsible only for what you deliberately will to be in your mind.

Set Goals

Setting goals for yourself is helpful. Imagine yourself as getting your homework done in first class form. Making a daily sacrifice by accomplishing something you are not required to do, or denying yourself some right, can strengthen and mature you. Then when a challenge comes at home, school, work or socially, you have greater motivational and brake power to control and direct yourself.

By treating your wonderful mind something like a computer with will power for its energy, you will gain new maturity. Seek to feed your intellect truth. Program the good, the strong, and the beautiful into it. As the year progresses you will find new adult control in yourself. Your life will be happier and more meaningful because of your sincere efforts.

responsibilities that involve the entire family.

Don't ask your 13-year-old to take any responsibility for her older sister. It's your job to take care of the girl whose mental capacities aren't up to average.

Don't ask for compassion or guilt from your 13-year-old. Just the same courtesy she'd show anyone. She wouldn't scream at a friend who picked up a magazine without asking permission. So tell her she may not behave in this discourteous way to her sister.

Concentration, Mental Growth Matter of Will

Emotions can be good, powerful and beautiful, or they can be destructive. Learning how to direct and control them is a continuing process.

With free, self-motivated human beings there will always be contests between doing what we feel like doing and what our reason judges as best.

Emotional control helps us enjoy our rights with pleasure, and prevents us from distorting our freedom. The misuse of freedom causes misery in ourselves and others.

Since, in many cases, emotions are the result of conscious thoughts, it is good common sense to direct and control our thinking.

Will Power as Aid

You might try approaching your mind as a kind of marvelous computer with a TV or motion picture screen. Through your will power you can put any idea or picture there you choose when you have strong control.

For example, suppose you are attempting to study but find your imagination is working overtime with distractions. By winning the battle of control, you strengthen your will and make yourself stronger for bigger achievements ahead. If the screen won't follow your orders, don't become hysterical and

Problems With Retarded Girl Still Parents' Responsibility

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: Is a 13-year-old girl old enough to show some compassion? Or are we expecting too much?

Our oldest daughter is retarded, a high grade moron. We have tried to make as pleasant, and normal a home for her as possible, without cheating our other children in any way.

Dr. Jones

But we realize that she has cast a shadow over their lives. While the other children are playing and taking music lessons and doing well at school, she attends a special day school and spends her leisure time making pot holders and looking at books. She shares a room with our 13-year-old girl. And this daughter is the one I'm writing about. She carries on a constant battle with her older sister, day and night. Miss 13 doesn't want to do any work at home unless her sister does the same.

We have tried to explain her sister's condition to her and have tried to show Miss 13 that we can't expect her sister to do the same work as she does, for she doesn't have the same privileges or brain capacity. But we don't seem to be able to convince her. Tonight she had a terrible quarrel with her because the 16-year-old looked at a movie magazine on 13's dresser without permission. Is that kind of thing reasonable?

MRS. T.A. You'll find it easier to cut down on the bickering if you stop viewing chores as payment for privileges and instead recognize them as opportunities to learn to share mutual

Campaign Trail Clothes Candidates' Wives Ready

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Four campaign tours get into full swing. Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey selected to try and influence history, are being packed and repacked as the presidential Lyndon B. Johnson shopped for hers in New York one day while the President was kept waiting. Mrs. Barry Goldwater made her selections in Phoenix after consulting the fashion buyer of the family department store — and letting her bodyguard okay her hat choices. "You're the one who will have to look at them the most," Mrs.

man. Her campaign mate, Mrs. William E. Miller, shopped the little specialty stores, and a few of the department stores in Washington, for comfortable, non-wrinkling garments. Purchasing Criterion A style expert who assists many Washington wives says a campaigner should dress "expensively enough to show appreciation of quality, but not so noticeably that she appears to be a spendthrift; well enough to elicit admiration, but not so splendidly she generates jealousy among the ladies." Mrs. Johnson took the first of her new clothing purchases on her Midwest barnstorming tour that began Thursday. Although the President's wife usually will not disclose the sources of her purchases, or describe them, it is well known that she prefers yellows, bright reds, oranges and whites. Sheaths and A-line costumes

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. These tiny, ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

predominate in her wardrobe. "But she places no emphasis on any one style or silhouette," a member of her staff has said. "What is very important to Mrs. Johnson is whether the garment suits her as an individual and whether it will wear well. She is a very practical woman." With short, slim Muriel Humphrey, whose husband is the President's running mate, creating costumes is a costuming hobby. In each finished garment she stitches her own label, "By Muriel Humphrey." A black brocade dinner dress is a favorite Muriel-made, but shades of blue which complement her blue eyes and graying hair are her usual color choices. Mrs. Humphrey prefers jacket costumes that adapt to changing weather and varying social situations.

Mrs. Goldwater Fashion-Minded Of the four women, Peggy Goldwater, a former designer and fashion buyer, probably has the greatest interest in fashion. Fashion buyer Dorothy Gays at Goldwater's Department Store in Phoenix described the wife of the Republican candidate for president as "very sure of her own taste and what flatters her. She will not be led astray just because something is new or in."

Miss Gays said Mrs. Goldwater's costumes always have a natural waist, sleeves and soft, easy skirts.

Those hats Mrs. Goldwater bought after advice from bodyguard Arthur Van Court are ranch mink and broadtail berets and bretons. They are a concession to the eastern states. In Arizona she avoids hats because they mess her hair. Hairdos also are the reason

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

ONE MOMENT, PLEASE

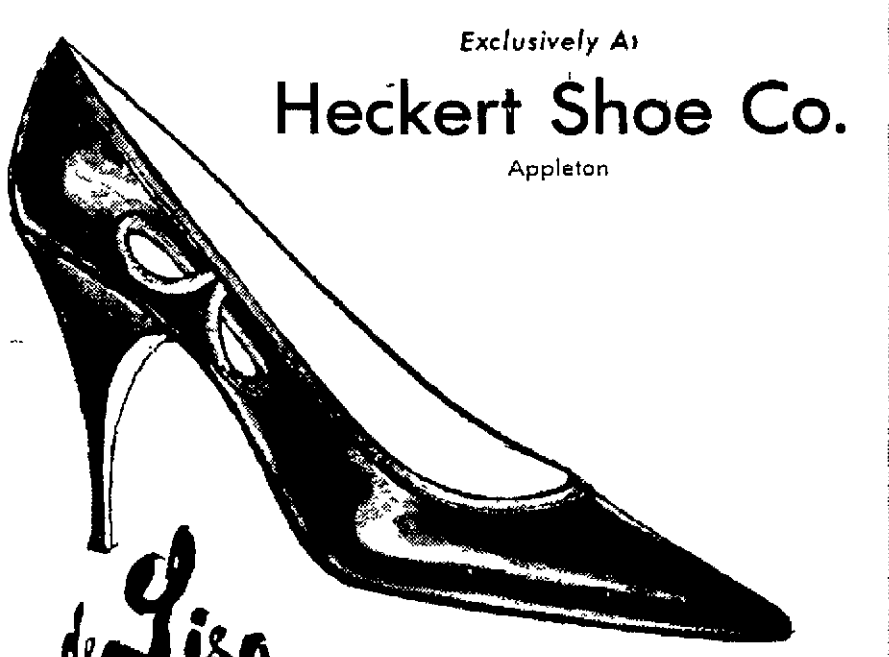

Dear Louise: We live in a residential community which is 25 miles from the nearest city. I often have occasion to telephone stores and other business places and am distressed over the service I get on the other end. Invariably when someone answers, I will get without even a hello, "One moment, please". Then it is usually an endless wait which sends my long distance phone bills sky high. Our neighbors have the same complaint. Perhaps my comments in print may help a little. Leaving a potential customer hanging on the wire for such a long time seems inconsiderate and unbusinesslike. Have you any special comments or suggestions to add? Louise Davis Answers:

Yours is often a problem of that Stephanie Miller, wife of the Republican candidate for vice president, does not wear hats. She prefers her hair in a short pageboy, and forgoes hats, even in the East, to keep her coiffure that way. Greens, blues, beiges and black and white combinations are colors which attract Mrs. Miller. She likes classical, tailored lines, usually with slim or A-line skirts.

Stepchild's Heartwarming Note Expresses What He Can't Say

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will print my letter so my stepmother will see it. I can write things on paper that I can't say.

I am 13 years old. My mother died when I was small — not even big enough to go to school. My father married a very nice woman. I love my stepmother but I don't think she knows it and I don't know how to tell her.

Sometimes I am hateful and mean to her when she tells me what to do. I argue with her even though I know she is right. I feel ashamed of myself later but I can't tell her I'm sorry.

I know she reads your column everyday because she talks about it. Please print my letter so she will see it and realize how much I love her. I'm sure my real mother is happy in heaven knowing my stepmother is so wonderful.

Dear Friend: I am not printing your initials or your city because I want every stepmother who reads this to think perhaps your beautiful letter was written by her stepchild.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a bartender. He comes home from work six nights a week at about 3:00 a.m. He expects me to get out of bed at that crazy hour and fix supper for him. It has caused a lot of arguments and now I'm writing to you for a solution.

We have two children who get up at 7:30 a.m. and go to school. I have to fix them breakfast or they will go without it. When I give my husband supper at 3:00 a.m. it breaks up my whole night's sleep and I drag around the next day half dead. Is this fair?

He used to have a day job but he makes more money as a bartender. For the first time we are able to pay our bills and save something. Please give me an answer to this one.

— Brick Wall

Dear Brick: If your husband were coming home at 3:00 a.m. after a night of girl-chasing I would say let him fix his own supper. But this man is working at a job.

You seem delighted with the additional income but you are unwilling to make any personal sacrifices. Is this fair?

Adjust your life to suit his "crazy hours" even if it means napping during the daytime. Your husband is entitled to a hot supper when he comes home from work and you should be happy to fix it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like your advice on how to deal with a problem shared by dozens of secretaries. The telephone manners of the bosses' wives are appalling.

They call the office several times a day and start off with: "Is he there?" "Where is he?" or "Let me talk to him." Although they have seen us hundreds of times, they never call us by name or say, "How are you today?" It's almost as if we are too stupid or too insignificant to bother with. Never is there a "Please," or a "Thank you."

How do you recommend we deal with such wives?

— Hired Help

Dear Help: Nothing accentuates rudeness like courtesy. Put extra syrup and honey in your voice and pour it on, Sister.

When Mrs. Gotrocks calls and barks "Is he there?" reply with, "Good morning, Mrs. G.R., of course Mr. G.R. is here. I'll put him right through. Just one moment, please."

Even the most obtuse clod will get the pitch eventually.

Did you feel ill at ease—out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here Are Boots That Go everywhere. The short black suede theater boot is trimmed with a band of soft black calf that ties over the instep. The slimmed-to-the-leg shoe boot goes over the knee for extra warmth. Such slimmness is achieved with zippers, stretch fabrics or elastic gores. The dress boot of black suede has a medium heel and is quite plain in style.

Boots Go Anywhere

Boots, which came storming into fashion several seasons ago, have stayed to become fair weather favorites. Whether they are functional, footloose or simply femme fatale, there is a boot this season for every fashion fancy.

Silhouettes are slimmer now, and often quite high. Secret of the skinny shaping is the use of stretch fabrics, lacings, elastic gorings and zippers. One of the slimmest side laced and climbing above the knee is strictly for the long legged and very young. Or for a really way-out look, there is the stretch pants boot, or a soaring, clinging spat with a matching shoe. The spat idea, catching on fast, could mean a number of coverings in various fabrics that are intended to be worn over a high heeled shoe for town or a low boot for almost everywhere.

Boots that reach just short of the knee have, perhaps, the broadest fashion potential. They may have heels of any height. When they are in brushed or saddle leathers, canvas or heavy knitted wool, they could go for a sallie in the supermarket or a walk in the deepest country. City types are apt to be of petal soft suede, reptile or patent.

Slightly lower, the boot takes to more decorative devices. One swashy little buckler has a pale pigskin shell and a wrapped cavalier, buckled vamp of brown suede. Another little - heeled whimsy is toed in black patent and shaped of quilted canvas, with metal rain slicker closings.

Fur, real or fake, is a status symbol in booted circles. So are reptiles, with special status going to the tiny grains. There are boots for the theatre and boots for after ski, boots for the sporting life and boots for curling in a quiet corner.

The story of boots has revived an old song, "Love and marriage, love and marriage — go together like a horse and carriage." The new boots can be most happily wed to the new textured stockings. What could be prettier than a bulky cable knit or an acid colored neon mohair as the perfect accessory for the casual boot?

Most important, since boots burst upon the fashion scene, is that they are lovely, exciting and for every occasion, but not all are necessarily weather-proofed. Every woman should ask questions about the boot she is interested in. The salesman will be glad to give the correct information.

Skin Not for Blotching

A lovely asks: What causes blotches on the face and neck? The ones I get look like polka dots, bright pink and the size of a quarter. They appear without warning and fade in a matter of hours—one to 24 hours.

The Answer: Blotches such as those described often result from an attack of nerves. They actually can be triggered by acute embarrassment. Another cause is allergic reaction to anything from food through dust to cosmetics. It is thought that a scalp invaded by dandruff can set off blotching.

Raised, itching blotches may signal several varieties of skin infection. Also the onslaught of allergic hives.

A recurrent case of either kind of blotch requires medical attention for proper diagnosis however, if you even suspect the possibility of allergies.

"Polka dot" blotching temporarily responds to a bath of bicarbonate of soda. Simply add a palmful of bicarbonate to a tub of cool water, and splash the individual advice that would lead to remission.

Until the condition subsides, So be it! a medicated foundation and powder usually makes a non-irritating cover-up. You need hypo-allergic cosmetics.

But, really, when you come right down to the basics, only your family doctor or a dermatologist is in a position to give the individual advice that would lead to remission.

U. S. Charity-Giving Nears All-Time High

BY SYLVIA PORTER
This year the average individual contribution by those of us who donate money to "public causes" will top $300.

Porter

This year our contributions to religious activities, educational pursuits, health and welfare causes will approach $11 billion, perhaps exceed this historic mark.

This year more than 62 million individuals and more than one million business corporations will contribute all-time record sums of dollars to an extraordinarily wide range of philanthropic activities, and millions of us will donate the largest share ever of our personal incomes and time.

Who's giving and how much? At the heart of this presidential election campaign is a major debate over the dangers of "centralized" government. As the campaign accelerates, so will the charges that we, as individuals, are becoming more and more soft and supine, are forsaking our individual and local responsibilities for education, health, welfare, etc., and are turning over the responsibilities to Washington's bureaucrats.

Thus, the above estimates on our private philanthropy—obtained from Eldredge Hiller, executive director of the non-profit American Assn. of Fund-Raising Counsel, Inc.—are of unusually timely significance.

Who's giving and how much? First on the list of givers is you, the individual. You are "by far the nation's greatest philanthropic resource," says Hiller, "and the biggest givers are individuals in the middle-lower income groups."

Nearly 80 per cent of all charity dollars are contributed by individuals, and more than 85 per cent of all individual contributors have annual incomes of $10,000 or less. Out of $10 billion the nation gave voluntarily to public causes in 1963, individuals donated the overwhelming bulk of $7.9 billion — and individual charitable bequests amounted to another $795 million.

Next on the list are foundations. Last year 15,000 of these organizations contributed $819 million.

Third are business corporations. In 1963 over one million of these contributed $536 million—but most of the total came from a comparatively few enlightened contributors.

178 Gifts
The Fund-Raising Council counted only 178 gifts from all types of contributors amounting to $1 million or more, for an over-all total of $663 million.

Who's getting and how much? Religious organizations are the chief beneficiaries of this unprecedented outpouring. These get half of all contributions.

Educational institutions get around 17 per cent. Receiving smaller but still significant gifts are health, welfare, other agencies.

Just in the past decade philanthropic giving has more than doubled in our country to an all-time high. Today we're contributing an estimated average 2.3 per cent of our total personal income to philanthropy against 1.8 per cent in 1950—and the same up-trend is discernible among businesses and foundations.

What's most important is not the increase in dollars that we, as individuals, are contributing; this would logically follow the upswing in our incomes. What's most important is the increase in the percentage of our incomes that we are contributing to philanthropic activities, for this reflects our awareness of responsibility and our willingness to rise to meet it.

Education Council To Conduct Meeting At Plymouth

The Fox River Valley Council of Education will hold its first fall meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Arndt's Bowling Alley, Plymouth.

The dinner meeting will be a planning session for projects to be carried out this year. The teachers' group is made up of delegates from 11 cities in the Fox Valley, and conducts studies on ways to improve education and teacher welfare.

In March Mrs. Thelmas Davis from North Carolina, president of the National Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers, will speak to the group, according to Miss Loraine Dudley, Kaukauna, a member of the executive board and past president.

More of Tax Dollar
Government at every level is using more and more of our tax dollars to finance health, welfare, education and debate over whether "control" will follow the money is appropriate.

To date, though, there is little—if any—evidence to back up fears of government "control," while there is plenty of persuasive evidence to show that we, as private individuals and organizations, are responding to urgent needs for gift-giving.

It's a point crucial to any fair debate over whether we really are defaulting on our individual and local responsibilities and "leaving it to the government."

Packer Offers Reward for Information

GREEN BAY (AP) — The president of a Green Bay packing company offered a $1,000 reward Tuesday "for the arrest and conviction of anyone engaged in unlawful action against any livestock trucker in Wisconsin," and challenged leaders of the National Farmers Organization to match his offer as what he termed a sign of good faith.

S. W. Frankenphal, president of the Packerland Packing Co., made his award offer after a series of reported shooting incidents and acts of vandalism against truckers during the night.

Frankenphal said that if state officials are "unable or unwilling to cope with the intimidation by the NFO, then private individuals must seize the initiative."

He noted that NFO leaders have taken stands against violence in demonstrations involving the farm organization's livestock withholding action and urged they match his reward offer.

Woman Elected To Library Post

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Anton P. Berkers was named president of Wisconsin Library Trustees Association at a convention in Milwaukee Saturday.

Others named to office were William Mett, first vice president, Cudahy; Mrs. Charles Voight, second vice president, Sheboygan; Mrs. Paul Raile, third vice president, Chippewa Falls, and Mrs. Arthur E. Waterman, Fort Atkinson, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Berkers is chairman and ex-officio member of the executive board of the association because of her presidential office. She served as moderator on a Friday convention program, "Student Use of Libraries."

Arson-for-Profit Fast-Rising Crime

Collecting Insurance Big Goal;
Fire-Setters Often Professional

BY RICHARD L. GRAVES

NEW YORK (AP) — Arson-for-profit is a crooked business growing as fast as the flames it feeds. One reason: the "torch."

The torch is not a comic strip character. He is, in underworld parlance, the professional fire-setter, the criminal who uses flame for gain.

His main aim is to collect, or help someone else collect, fire insurance on property. The target is a big one. More than $2.2 billion in fire insurance premiums are written each year.

Organized crime is turning more and more to incendiary activity, in the opinion of fire marshals and insurance investigators.

"There is no slacking off in the trend," says insurance investigator Brendan P. Battle, manager of the Arson, Theft and Fraud Department of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Syndicate Control
"Syndicate-controlled hoodlums are believed to have been responsible for recent fire-setting in at least 10 states in the East and Midwest," Battle said in an interview.

He said there is "a definite connection between growth of professional arson rings and the increase in insurance fraud fires."

The number of cases investigated by his agency during the year ended April 30 reached a record 904. They involved $36.5 million in insurance.

The bureau's investigations did not include major metropolitan areas such as New York, Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia, which have their own fire investigating agencies.

But reports of fire officials in those areas indicate their problem is even more acute.

Since January 1962 there have been some 75 bombings and set fires in Chicago business firms.

Soo Line Gets
Okay to Close 42
Freight Agencies

MADISON (AP) — The Soo Line railroad received authorization from the State Public Service Commission Monday to close 42 of its freight agencies but was told it must maintain four for pulpwood shippers.

Agencies in Butternut, Glendon, Mellen and Marengo must remain in operation, the commission said.

In the Fox Valley area agencies will be closed at Dale, Fremont, Wayauwega, Amherst, Custer, Center Valley, Nichols, Neopit, White Lake, Lily, Starks and Crandon.

The railroad will serve discontinued points by providing a traveling agent who will make stops in the communities. Fourteen traveling agents will be furnished. The railroad told the commission that closing of the offices, most of them in north and central areas, will save $144,000 a year.

New York City fire officials investigated 589 fires during 1963 that they termed suspicious and another 485 known incendiary cases including many for motives other than profit — revenge, mischief, pyromania.

6 Convictions
But it is a clue to the effectiveness of the professional torch that, of all the investigations, there were only six convictions of persons for setting fires to collect insurance.

Also, say the investigators, the number of fires they know or suspect of being arson for profit is probably only a fraction of the actual total.

The reason is that the professional torch knows how to set a fire so that it looks accidental, and fire tends to destroy the evidence of its origin.

How big a bite of fire insurance collection is taken by all arson for profit activity is unknown.

But in the decade ending in January 1963, fires known to have been set caused more than $144 million in property losses, a little more than 3 per cent of total losses. A big chunk of the figure was arson for profit — perhaps the greatest part.

Racketeers Active
"We have encountered with increasing frequency interstate travel on the part of gangland torches who have been given contracts calling for the destruction of business premises by fire," said Battle.

"Racketeers have learned that fire-setting can be a very lucrative source of income through insurance collections as well as a weapon to be used as intimidation for organizing purposes or for eliminating business competitors," Battle added.

One result has been that the U.S. Justice Department is taking a new look at organized arson at the request of the insurance firms. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has begun compilation of uniform statistics on arson.

Arson for Profit
But arson for profit and its impact on the multibillion-dollar fire insurance industry is only part of the picture. There also is the human element. Fires set for profit take lives.

Among recent tragedies was a case in New York. A landlord hired a torch to burn a tenement he owned in order to collect insurance. Four persons living in the tenement died in the flames.

Only a quarrel between the paid arsonist and his girl friend broke the case open. She told authorities what she knew of the fire. Both the landlord and arsonist were convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The lives lost were among 10 deaths in New York City alone in 1963 from known arson or suspicious fires.

There are dozens of lives lost each year across the nation to flame for gain but, like the dollar cost of the torch, the true casualty totals is unknown.

Officials Soon to Set Site, Type of Fox Valley Institution

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The time is near when higher education policy-makers will be required to come to grips with the prospectively delicate problem of deciding the administrative identity of a new four-year institution of higher learning which is planned to serve the Fox River Valley and environs.

Will the new institution be a branch of the University of Wisconsin, resembling the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, or will it be defined as a part of the "state university system" operated by the state board of college regents as are the existing Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and other?

Corollary Decision

A corollary decision to be made soon by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education is location of the new institution, although it is possible that the site selection will be left to the judgment of the board of regents that is given jurisdiction over the new school, according to sources.

One official speculated the coordinating committee will be obliged to make a recommendation on jurisdiction not later than December, to present the case for the new school in the most effective terms to the governor and the legislators who will be considering financing proposals and a statutory enabling act soon thereafter.

Members of the coordinating such opinion as has been expressed in the Fox River Valley during the period of discussion about the new school has tended to assume that the new facility will be a branch of the University of Wisconsin.

University regents have shared that assumption, but there have been signs that the board of regents of state colleges will make an argument that the new school would fit more logically into its own system of schools, recently renamed "state universities" by action of that board.

Avoided Question

There has also been a disposition throughout the discussions to assume that the school site chosen would be in the Green Bay community.

But the coordinating committee in its extensive studies leading to an urgent recommendation for the authorization of the institution has thus far carefully avoided the questions of jurisdiction and location.

Farmer Is Irked Over Citation

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Sylvan Millerbernd, 29, a farmer, is thinking about hiring a lawyer about that matter of a $10 traffic ticket.

It wasn't the ticket that irked him. It was what happened after he paid it.

Millerbernd, of Cosmos, Minn., was taken in a State Highway Patrol car 150 miles and jailed at Rochester for allegedly ignoring a traffic ticket issued in June. He paid it by mail Aug. 26.

Somehow his name wasn't checked off the patrol's warrant list.

He was arrested Sunday night at his home, where friends and neighbors were visiting, he said, and whisked away despite his protests. A relay of six patrolmen took him to Rochester.

"They treated me like a criminal," he said.

Worse yet, Millerbernd said the ticket had been instrumental in ruining a $1,000 engine and putting him out of the trucking business. He was given the ticket for having insufficient brakes on a pickup truck for towing a disabled semitractor. Driving the tractor home ruined the motor, he contends.

Millerbernd said he wasn't offered a ride back from Rochester, so he hitchhiked the 150 miles back home, letting off steam on the way.

John Wayne Given Treatment for Ailment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Wayne, 57, is being treated at Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles for an ankle injury and a respiratory ailment, his secretary says.

The secretary, Mary St. John, said Tuesday Wayne underwent surgery to correct a old ankle injury last Wednesday. He developed an allergy "to something he had taken" and it caused an abscess on one lung, she said.

Appleton Lions to Sell 'Mountain' of Light Bulbs

More than 150 Appleton men will attempt to sell a mountain of light bulbs to the State Lions Camp for the blind and visually handicapped.

The men are members of the Appleton Lions Clubs, and the mountain is a mountain of light bulbs they are preparing to sell on that day.

Lions Club officials said more than 11,400 bulbs of various sizes — enough to light a small city — will be sold.

Members wearing the familiar gold and purple caps, or identification cards will move the bulbs from a central warehouse to Appleton area homes.

The fund-raising project is particularly appropriate because one of the continuing projects of Lions International is sight conservation.

Appleton Club members recently completed a citywide collection of used glasses which were shipped to needy persons in South America and India.

Wisconsin Lions contributed more than 50,000 pairs of glasses to this project.

Both Appleton clubs, the evening club and the noon club, will provide eye care when there is a need. A committee investigates each case. Eye examinations, operations and glasses have been provided to area residents.

The organization provides white canes to the blind, vocational training and other aids when needed, and sends children to the State Lions Camp for the blind and visually handicapped.

Sophie Tucker to Fete 60th Year on Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — Sophie Tucker celebrates her 60th year in show business tonight by opening a three-week stand at the Latin Quarter.

"I'm thinking of nothing but giving a wonderful show at the club," said the 77-year-old singer.

Has she given any thought to retiring?

"None whatsoever. I feel younger than I did 50 years ago."

XB70 Has Trouble on Its First Test Flight

Absolute Must, Obsolete Bust Titles Given Plane

BY CHARLES MAHER
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The nation's biggest bomber ran into trouble its first time up, but trouble is nothing new to the XB70, a breed of plane regarded by some as an absolute must and by others as an obsolete bust.

Off the drawing boards the better part of a decade, the 185-foot-long monster finally got off the ground Monday, and: —First off, developed either instrument or mechanical trouble and went through most of its 65-minute maiden flight with one of its six engines dead. —Developed landing gear trouble, and, as a precaution, kept its wheels and its speed down the rest of the flight. —Landed with a fiery splash, burning two tires that apparently were held rigid by a locked brake.

Air Force Satisfied
The Air Force brushed aside these annoyances, expressed satisfaction with the flight, and said it expects the triangular-winged craft to carry on as a research vehicle — a role somewhat less dramatic than the one in which the XB70 was originally cast. The XB70, which has a slender fuselage and looks like a flying serpent, was designed to fly as fast as 2,000 m.p.h. and as high as 80,000 feet.

give airplane," said test pilot Al White of North American Aviation, Inc. "I'm just delighted with the whole thing. If you never had any malfunctions, there wouldn't be any test pilot."

A reporter, alluding to planes of later design than the XB70, asked at a news conference after the flight whether the Air Force was not now stuck with "a triple sonic anachronism."

"No," said Brig. Gen. Irving L. Branch, commander of the flight test center here. Branch said he's confident the XB70 will yield information needed for development of supersonic transports.

About $1.2 billion has already been sunk into the XB70 program. Before the testing is over the investment may be $1.5 billion.

Democrats Outpolled GOP by 94 Ballots
MADISON (AP) — The Democratic vote for governor in Wisconsin's Sept. 8 primary shaded the Republican tally by only 94 ballots, the official election canvass showed today.

Totals compiled by the Secretary of State's office gave Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds and his primary opponent, Dominic Frinzi, a total of 343,318 votes, compared to 343,224 for Warren P. Knowles and Milo Knutson, the Republican opponents.

Kaukauna Youth Named Safe Driver In National Test

Patrick W. Hoppensperger of Kaukauna Vocational High School has been named Kaukauna's "Safest Teen-Age Driver" by the National Safe Teen-Age Driver Award Program.

He made the highest local score in a 30-minute, 100-question true-false test taken last May in high schools by 30,000 students in 34 states and the District of Columbia.

The exam, believed to be the first of its kind, measured the students' attitudes, hostilities and aggressions as well as their automobiles.

State winners will be announced next month. The national winner will be named in November.

Awards will total $12,000. The national winner will receive $5,000 to attend the college of his or her choice.

Lawrence Says New York Poll Results Show Strange Views

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It is not surprising that a poll made by the New York Times shows 54 per cent of the white persons interviewed in New York City think that the "civil rights" movement should slow down, and 80 per cent think the city school board's plan to advance integration through "pairing" white and Negro schools is a "bad idea." But what is surprising is that the same citizens, who are recorded as having voted 57 per cent for Kennedy in 1960, now would vote 61 per cent for Johnson.

This contradiction is even more puzzling when the question was asked whether the citizens have been affected in any way by a "white backlash." While 27 per cent said they had changed their thinking in the last two months and are "more opposed to what Negroes want" than they were before, 62 per cent said they feel "pretty much the same" as they always have felt.

Yet, when specific questions were asked as to whether an individual would "feel uncomfortable about having a number of Negro families living near you," 40 per cent said "yes," and 40 per cent said "no." Then, when a further question was asked, whether the white person would "feel uncomfortable about having one or two Negro families" living nearby, the answer was 37 per cent in the negative and only 18 per cent in favor, while 25 per cent said it would depend on whether they were "nice people."

Baffling Answers

Even more baffling were the answers to the questions about the way President Johnson has handled the "civil rights" situation. About 57 per cent thought he has handled it "just right," while 24 per cent thought he has "gone too far" and 13 per cent said they were "not sure."

About the only conclusion that can really be drawn at this time is that the "civil rights" movement has stirred up a good deal of feeling. This was especially true when it was asked whether "non-violent" demonstrations, such as "sit-ins" and picketing, have helped or hurt the Negro cause. The answer of 49 per cent was that they have hurt, while 42 per cent said they have helped. The other 9 per cent were noncommittal.

It seems strange so much commotion could be developed in the City of New York, and yet the Democratic vote would be undisturbed. This is contrary to the usual trend of protest movements. More light, perhaps, is shed on the subject when the citizens were asked how they felt Mayor Wagner and the city government has handled the "civil rights" situation. There were only 35 per cent who answered "just right," while 27 per cent answered "gone too far," 22 per cent were "not sure," and 16 per cent said "not far enough."

Veale Strikes Out 15, But Braves Take 2-0 Victory Lemaster Records 16th Triumph; Pirates Officially Eliminated

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves stirred up nearly enough air to cause a low atmosphere disturbance Tuesday night, but still managed to bolster their hold on fifth place in the National League.

Pittsburgh southpaw Bob Veale struck out 15 batters, but the Braves bunched three hits for a pair of runs and left-hander Denny Lemaster took command in a 2-0 victory over the Pirates before a crowd of 3,680 at Forbes Field.

The victory was the Braves' 10th in their last 14 outings and enabled them to take a game and a half lead over the Pirates in the battle for fifth place and a share of the World Series money.

Veale was brilliant, but Lemaster was tougher. The Milwaukee fire-baller went the distance for the ninth time in 33 tries while boosting his record to 16-11.

Struck Out Eight

Lemaster fired a seven-hitter, struck out eight and walked only two in officially eliminating the Pirates from the pennant race. Milwaukee is 11 games behind Philadelphia, while the Pirates are 12 1/2 games back.

Joe Torre, who had two of the seven hits off Veale, touched off the decisive rally by singling to right in the second inning. Torre took second on a passed ball and scored as Gene Oliver sliced a double down the right field line. Then Denny Menke doubled to right, scoring Oliver.

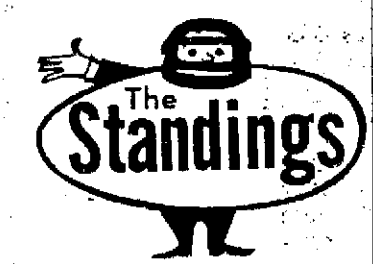

Veale then settled down, but the damage had been done. He struck out 15 batters, shattering the Pittsburgh club record of 12 set by Babe Adams in 1909. Veale had tied Adams' mark earlier this year.

Lemaster started a little shakily by allowing singles by Dick Schofield and Bill Virdon in the first, but worked his way out of the jam.

Aaron Returns

The Pirates' last threat was made in the eighth when Roberto Clemente collected his third hit with two out and Gene Freese drilled a single to left. Lemaster then fired a third strike past Donn Clendenon to end the inning.

Neenah's vaunted passing attack and the sure-fire running game of the Menasha Bluejays collide head-on in the Mid-Eastern Conference feature Saturday on the Rockets' home grounds.

Kaukauna's Ghosts travel to Shawano, New London visits Kimberly and Two Rivers treks to Clintonville in Friday night contests.

The clash between the Twin-Cities' arch-rivals may go a long way in deciding the 1964 resident of the M-E throne room at season's end.

The Rockets of Coach Harland Carl, the defending champions, displayed an awesome aerial attack in the M-E opener against Kimberly-Friday-Neenah, with Dan Haertl and Pete Kuehl on the firing line, connected on nine of 10 air attempts en route to a 32-7 victory.

Passing Game

The Rockets mix the running talents of Karl Pennau, Mike Milliken and Bruce Rasmussen with the pin-point passing game. Bruce Menning, Tom Walker and Jim Koepke are among the chief targets.

Coach Tom Weede's Bluejays, 49-0 victor over Two Rivers in the loop lid-lifter, feature the running of halfback Dick Sorensen. Sorensen rambled for 145 yards on the ground against the Raiders on the way to two touchdowns. The shifty half averaged 11-plus yards per trip. Sorensen scored four TDs in Menasha's non-conference win over Berlin.

Redlegs Surprise Phillies, 9-2; Reduce Lead to 4 1/2 Games

Simmons, Cards Nip Mets, 2-1; Trail by 5 as Flag Chase Tightens

BY MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You know that pennant race in the National League. . . It may just be starting.

The Cincinnati Reds saw to that Tuesday night, capitalizing on Chris Short's wildness and a homer by Frank Robinson for a 9-2 victory over National League leading Philadelphia that trimmed the Phillies' lead to 4 1/2 games.

The second-place Reds and the third-place Cardinals, five games back after a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets, actually are in a better position than Baltimore and Chicago, trying to catch the New York Yankees in the American League scramble.

The White Sox are in the worst position—five games down in the all-important loss column. The other three pursuers are four games back in that department, but there's one big difference in the two races. The contenders in the American League do not meet again while the Reds and Cardinals still have games remaining with the sluggish Phillies.

And Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler knows it.

'50 All Over

"It sure does remind you of '50 all over again," said Sisler, who played for the Phillies in 1950 when they blew a 7 1/2-game lead in the final 11 games and had to win the pennant from Brooklyn on the last day of the season.

"We have momentum now which we didn't have before, that good spirit only winning produces," said Sisler. "This club is battling back when it's behind, which it wasn't doing earlier."

The Phillies also weren't losing as often earlier. The loss to the Reds was their second in a row and their fourth in the last six games. Philadelphia has 10 games remaining—three each with St. Louis and Cincinnati,

Yanks Win Pair, Lead By 2 1/2 Games

Orioles and White Sox Both Suffer Losses by 1-Run Margins

BY HAL BOCK

You know that pennant race in the American League. . . It may just be over.

The New York Yankees saw to that Tuesday night, sweeping a two-night doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 5-3 and 8-1. The twin triumphs stretched the Yankees' American League lead to 2 1/2 games over the Baltimore Orioles, who lost 2-1 to Detroit, and 3 1/2 games over the Chicago White Sox, who were shut out 1-0 by Los Angeles.

The Yankees hold an imposing four-game edge in the loss column and seem on the threshold of clinching the pennant that looked all but lost exactly a month ago today. On Aug. 22, New York lost its sixth straight and dropped six games off the pace.

Won 22 of 29

Since then the perennial champions have won 22 of 29 including the last seven straight while moving to the top of the heap. Even though their lead is two games less than the margin held by the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies, the Yankees actually are in a stronger position because their remaining schedule does not call for them to meet the contenders. Philadelphia must play pursuing Cincinnati and St. Louis three times each in its last 10 games.

The last time the Phillies won the pennant was 1950 and the Yankees swept four straight from them in the World Series. A rookie named Whitey Ford, who had come up in mid-season to lift a slumping pitching staff won the final game. Ford's still around and he's got a replica for the role he played in 1950 in young Mel Stottlemyre, whose late-season hurling helped the Yankee drive get started.

Winning Combination

Ford and Stottlemyre were Manager Yogi Berra's winning combination Tuesday with relief pitchers Pete Ramos and Hal Reniff helping out.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston shut out Washington 3-0 and Kansas City outlasted Minnesota 10-9.

Stottlemyre started the first game and led 5-3 when he tired in the ninth, giving up two singles. Berra went to the mound, hesitated a moment, and then called in Ramos, who came to the Yankees from Cleveland two weeks ago.

Ramos fed Al Luplow a double play pitch to save it for the youngster who has now won eight games since coming up early in August.

5-Run Ninth

In the nightcap, Ford held a 2-1 lead through seven innings and Reniff finished up with a five-run Yankee ninth icing it.

New York belted two homers in each game with Roger Maris

No Choice — We've Got to Win! Thurston Sees Lions' Front Four As Even Tougher With Karras Back

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — It was the morning after the Baltimore nightmare and Fuzzy Thurston's voice, occasionally raised in boisterous song in leisure moments, now came faintly over the phone from the depths of Menasha's Left Guard.

Informed he was barely audible, Valparaiso's valued contribution to the Packer offensive line replied apologetically. With slightly higher volume but considerable effort, "I can't talk too well today—I'm trying to get my senses back in shape. It's not too tough when you really get beat, but when you beat yourself, it's hard to take."

Mercifully, the conversation turned to the future. At the moment, of course, it is represented by the miserly Detroit Lions, who owned the National Football League's most anti-social "front four" in 1963, in the opinion of many—including the considered judgement of today's subject, a genuine authority.

Even Tougher

The return of mountainous Alex Karras after sitting out a year-long suspension for betting "is bound to make that 'four even tougher," conceded Fuzzy, who along with his smoldering colleagues will find out at first hand in Detroit's Tiger Stadium Monday night.

"Karras (who has replaced Floyd Peters in said foursome) and Roger Brown are as good defensive tackles as there are," Thurston declared. "There are others as good but none any better."

"Playing Detroit also is a big challenge for me, particularly because of Brown. He's 310 or 320 pounds and he's as good a football player as I'll ever play against," Fuzzy, a mere 245, asserted. "He's big. Quick and has a lot of hustle."

Hard to Sav

"Last year, the Lions had the best front four in the league. This year, of course, we've only played two teams, so it's hard to say. But the Rams must be pretty tough—they've got four guys 6-7 and 280 or so and I read where they held the Lions to 7 yards rushing in the first half last Saturday night."

Returning to the matter at hand, he observed in somewhat scholarly fashion, "We know that to score against the Lions is always a difficult problem. But this is a must game for us. We have no choice—we've got to win it."

Vital Statistic

Fuzzy, christened Floyd at birth in Altoona, Wis., back in 1935, but seldom so addressed since, brightened slightly at the suggestion of victory and pointed out, "If we do, we'll be back in first place because the Lions (who currently share the western division lead with the

Rams Lead NFL's Defensive Statistics

Los Angeles Boasts Biggest Line in League; Vikings Lead Offensively

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have the biggest defensive line in the National Football League with Lamar Lundy, 6-foot-7, 250 pounds, Merlin Olsen, 6-5, 275, Rosey Grier, 6-5, 291, and Dave Jones, 6-4, 260. The latest statistics indicate they also have the best over-all defense in the league.

The defensive unit that Coach Harland Sware has fashioned in the Coliseum leads the NFL because it has allowed only 354 yards in two games. The Rams rank third in rushing defense with 159 and top the heap in pass defense with 195.

The Rams also have allowed the fewest points, 31, the fewest first downs, 22, the fewest first downs passing, 10.

Jack Pardee, Cliff Livingston and Mike Henry are the line-backers behind the front four with rookie Jerry Richardson and Bobby Smith at the corners and Ed Meador and safety coach Lindon Crow at playing.

Vikings Dominate

Despite their defeat by the Chicago Bears last Sunday, the Minnesota Vikings dominate the offensive statistics.

Dutch Van Brocklin's Vikings are first in rushing with 421 yards; passing, 455 yards and total offense, 876 yards. Surprising Philadelphia is second, followed closely by St. Louis, Dallas and Green Bay in total offense.

Conversely, the leakiest defense belongs to the Baltimore Colts, who have given up 771 yards, and the least potent offense, despite an upset of New York, is Pittsburgh with a total of 381 yards in two games.

One shocker in the defensive figures is the Chicago Bears in 12th place, yielding 707 yards.

Roosevelt and Madison, fresh from victories in their season openers last week, meet head on in the feature Fox Valley Freshman League game Thursday afternoon at the Madison field.

In other games, Neenah will be at Kimberly and Wilson visits Kaukauna.

Roosevelt posted an opening win over Menasha while Madison crushed Neenah.

Kimberly and Wilson fought to a 0-0 tie last week so the junior Papermakers will be looking for their first win while Neenah also will be out to get on the victory trail.

Kaukauna was idle last week and will see its first action Thursday. Coach Noel Diffatte plans on starting Tom Helting at quarterback with Tom Leitzke and Lee Senso at halfbacks and Marty Van Zeeland at fullback. Linemen will include Mel Bierstecker, Marty Tatro or Dennis Spice at ends; Irv Keogh and Dick Huss, tackles; Jim Pomeroy and Bill Verhagen at guards and Mark Kavanaugh at center.

Saturday's Game: Winneconne at Wayland Academy (non. conf.)

The Little Nine Conference lead will be at stake Friday when Reedsville entertains Hilbert.

Action in the conference is spread out over three days. Thursday night, Freedom will be at Denmark. On Friday, in addition to the Hilbert-Reedsville clash, Shiocton will be at Omro and Hortonville goes to Wrightstown. On Saturday, Winneconne plays a non-conference tilt at Wayland Academy.

Reedsville has a 2-0 record, while Hilbert is 1-0 in the conference. Hilbert also won its only non-league start. Three other teams — Winneconne, Wrightstown and Omro — are unbeaten in the Little 9 — but ties mar their records.

Freedom bounced back with a victory last week and the Irish will be out to make it two straight at Denmark's expense Thursday night.

Hortonville has had its troubles so far this season and the Polar Bears are hoping to come through against Wrightstown. However, the Tigers have come up with a strong running attack.

Both Shiocton and Omro are still looking for their initial win. The Chiefs have dropped two straight while Omro has played a tie in its only outing.

Chance Voted August Winner of Hickock Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Dean Chance, brilliant pitcher of the Los Angeles Angels.

Top candidate for the Cy Young Award as 1964's outstanding right-hander was named the August winner in the monthly poll for the annual Hickock professional athlete of the year award Tuesday.

Chance, who registered three shutouts in August, received 127 points in a vote of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters. Golfer Bobby Nichols was second with 94 points.

Brooks Robinson, fine all-around third baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, placed third with 54 points.

Badgers Deny Notre Dame Use of Closed Circuit TV

CHICAGO (AP)—Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said Tuesday that Wisconsin denied a request by the Irish to use a spy-in-the-sky in Saturday's football game at Madison.

Parseghian told the Chicago Football Writers Association by phone from South Bend, Ind., that about a week ago "Wisconsin officials denied us the right to use the closed circuit system there in our opening game."

Parseghian experimented with the closed circuit television system set up by Notre Dame station WNDU. A TV camera atop the stands picked up plays and alignments and relayed the bird's eye view to a portable receiver on the sidelines.

It also was possible to put the action on tape, which could be played back at halftime in the locker room for study and review by coaches and players.

Parseghian said that Wisconsin Athletic Director Ivy Williamson told WNDU "there was no space for the equipment" at Camp Randall Stadium.

"It is a closed incident with the closed circuit television system," Parseghian said.

Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed said there is no general conference policy against the use of closed circuit television, but he indicated there was a gentlemen's agreement that such devices would not be used unless employed by both schools.

"The only policy that could concern such a matter is that the host school must provide the same amount of space to visiting schools as it uses itself," Reed said.

Orv Strutz Hits 589 Pin Series

Cincinnati Hands Phils 9-2 Setback

7-1 victory over Houston and the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 behind eight innings of shutout relief by Cal Koonce.

The American League leading Yankees, meanwhile, made it seven victories in a row by whipping Cleveland 5-3 and 8-1, Baltimore lost to Detroit 2-1, Chicago dropped a 1-0 decision to the Los Angeles Angels, Boston shut out Washington 3-0 and Kansas City outlasted Minnesota 10-9.

Short In Jam

Short, now 17-8, put himself in a jam in the third inning and the Reds wound up with four runs. As it turned out that was enough for Jim O'Toole, 16-7, who kept eight Philadelphia hits fairly well scattered.

Walks to O'Toole and Chico Ruiz around a single by Pete Rose got the Reds started in the third. One run scored when Vada Pinson hit into a force out and the second came over as catcher Gus Triandos fired the ball into centerfield on Pinson's steal of second. Robinson then capped the uprising with his 28th homer.

Curt Simmons got the job done for the Cardinals with a six-hitter, allowing the Mets a run in the first inning on a single by Bobby Klaus, Roy McMillan's double and a sacrifice fly by Jim Hickman before settling down.

Simmons, 16-9, got the only runs he needed in the fourth when Bill White's single, a triple by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat's sacrifice fly produced two runs off Tracy Stallard.

Estelle got enough support from Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn against the Colts. Cepeda drove in three runs with a homer and single while Kuenn collected three hits, including No. 2,000 of his major league career.

Koonce took over for the injured Lew Burdette after the first inning and checked the Dodgers on seven hits. The Cubs scored their only run off Don Drysdale, 18-15, in the sixth on singles by Jim Stewart and Andre Rodgers and a grounder.

Texaco research develops new

Texaco Jet Flame Booster

Great new flame-control development designed to increase oil-burner efficiency. It produces clean, steady, smoke-free heat that improves efficiency as much as 42%!

It's here... a new kind of device that steps up the efficiency of oil, almost efficient means of home heating. It's Texaco's new Jet Flame Booster, the result of years of research and actual in-home testing. Developed at Beacon, N. Y., where Texaco maintains a modern, fully equipped laboratory devoted exclusively to oil-burner research.

Proved in home-heating tests! Texaco tested the new Jet Flame Booster in many homes before bringing it to you. All the burners tested were accurately adjusted.

Then the Texaco Jet Flame Booster was installed. And in over 97% of the homes tested, the Texaco Jet Flame Booster showed measurable improvements in burner efficiency. Increases ranged up to 42%! Now it's ready for easy installation in most gun-type burners. Takes just a few hours. Costs about $19, plus installation.

The secret is in the compact flame. The Texaco Jet Flame Booster has a specially designed end cone and air stabilizer that scientifically mix air and oil. The result is a solid, compact flame that burns so cleanly and so completely, you get more heat with less oil. That means savings in fuel costs. No moving parts to maintain.

For all size homes.

Want to increase your burner's performance and reduce heating costs? Call us. We will analyze your burner's performance and tell you what the Texaco Jet Flame Booster can do for your home—whether it is a new ranch or an old colonial, large or small. No cost. No obligation.

like this. It concentrates the heat uniformly throughout the combustion chamber.

Huff Seeks Revenge Against Former Mates In Yankee Stadium

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Coach Wally Lemm of the National Football League St. Louis Cardinals, an old Navy man, fired a salvo Tuesday against Col. Red Blaik's allegation that too much passing weakens professional football.

Lemm, a onetime PT boat commander, said of the former Army head coach: "I admire the man but he's way off base."

"He (Blaik) names only Green Bay and Chicago as running teams in the National Football League. But Dallas is basically a running team. Other teams do plenty of running too."

Lemm said his own Cardinals

Neenah '11', Menasha Meet On Saturday

Succa are also available in the Jay backfield.

Missed 2 sStarts

The status of the Jays' regular signal-caller Rick Zimmerman is, as yet, in doubt. Zimmerman was injured in pre-season drills and has missed both of Menasha's starts.

The Jays are anchored in the line by 225-pound tackle Bob Weber and veteran center Morry Quick. Don Steffin and Dick Slattery are top-notch ends.

The New London-at-Kimberly game starts at 8 p.m. Friday, rather than at an earlier time, as announced previously.

Kimberly, 1-1 overall with a non-loop win over Little Chute St. John, is led by quarterback Harold (Whitey) Nienhaus and halfback Terry Subert. The toe of Dan DeWeert is also a definite Papermaker scoring threat. DeWeert booted a 30-yard field goal against the Chuters and has converted three in three tries.

53 Total Yards

New London managed a meager 53 total yards and two first downs in its M-E opener vs. Kaukauna. The Bulldogs displayed a porous defense as well, yielding 404 total yards to the Ghosts.

The Ghost Invasion of Shawano will be led by the running of Bob Promer and Stan Dercks. Coach Harry Wilson's contingent rolled up 386 yards on the ground against the Bulldogs. Dercks accounted for 163 in just 15 tries and Promer rambled 86 yards in 17 trips.

Junior quarterback Bob Mahn, handicapped by a leg injury when the Ghosts opened against Neenah in a non-loop fray, returned to full action against the Bulldogs. Mahn saw some action in the Neenah exhibition battle, which the Ghosts dropped by a 34-6 count.

Terry Dieck and Don Thompson paced the Clintonville attack in a 7-6 win over Shawano.

Illinois Loses Two Fullbacks For Opening Tilt

Coach Tony Ellis boasts 17 returning lettermen from the '63 squad. Workhorse back Vaughn James spearheads the Shawano ground game.

ball game at California Saturday. No. 3 Bill Harper is out for two to six weeks with ligament damage to his knee. He was hurt in a practice game Saturday in a play involving No. 2 Tony Parola. Parola, knocked out when he tackled Harper on a kickoff, will be unable to play against California, Coach Pete Elliott said Monday. Sophomore Doug Harford has been shifting to fullback from halfback to add strength. Jim Grabowski is the No. 1 fullback.

Yesterday's Stars

BATting — Joe Pepitone, Yankees, drove in three runs with a homer and single as American League leading New York defeated Cleveland 5-3. The Yankees also won the second game of the twin-nighter 8-1 and took a 2½-game lead over second-place Baltimore.

PITCHING — Fred Newman, Angels, shut out Chicago 1-0 on five hits, dropping the third-place White Sox 3½ games behind the Yankees.

Police Keep Watch On Brown's Home

Cleveland Star Gets Anonymous Threat After Voicing Opinion

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police kept an around-the-clock watch on the east side home of Cleveland Browns' fullback Jim Brown following an anonymous threat that his house would be bombed.

The police vigil was ordered Tuesday after an official of station KTV-TV reported receiving a telephoned bomb threat from a woman shortly before Brown appeared on a show to discuss racial issues.

A police department spokesman said cruisers would keep Brown's house frequently to see that everything was okay. "This will continue until we think it's no longer necessary," the spokesman added.

Brown and his wife, Sue, have three children and live in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Reports Incident
Forrest L. Fraser, producer of the Mike Douglas show, reported the incident to police. He said a woman asked him to tell Brown that if he appeared and talked "about the things that have been in the papers. . . we are going to bomb his home."

The woman identified herself only as representing a New York organization, then hung up, Fraser said.

Brown, on the show, discussed some of the statements he made in a controversial article he wrote this week in a national magazine. These included some of his views on segregation and the Black Muslims, who preach Negro supremacy.

The statements are from Brown's forthcoming book, Off My Chest.

Emphasizing that he was not a member of the organization, Brown said.

"I've never considered it I'm not part of it I probably won't ever be."

The $50,000-a-year grid star continued:

"The Black Muslims are not terrorists. They are a religion. They believe Negroes should be aware of the white man. They believe Negroes should help Negroes. They believe in neatness and cleanliness, and they hold their woman in high esteem."

Brown, asked how he felt about the Muslims' aims for an African state, replied:

"That's not realistic. I'm an American first."

White people who discriminate "are not free themselves," Brown went on, adding:

"In a democracy, you're born free — or you should be."

Asked if he hated white people, Brown answered:

"No. It's hard for me to envision hating an entire group."

Griffith Retains Crown in Win Over Curvis

Floors Welsh Challenger Three Times

LONDON (AP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith set off for a well-earned holiday in his native Virgin Islands today after winning over a partisan London boxing crowd with a masterly defense of his title against Welshman Brian Curvis.

Griffith, 26, dropped the 27-year-old British Champion for counts of eight in the sixth round, nine in the 10th and nine again in the 13th before a sellout crowd of 10,300 at Wembley Indoor Stadium.

Griffith was full of praise for the plucky Briton.

"He gave me a good fight and deserves a return," the champion said. "I'll be happy to fight him again any time he's ready."

British promoter Jack Solomons, who staged Tuesday night's show, immediately suggested an outdoor title fight between the two in Wales next summer.

"It's okay by me if my managers agree," said Griffith.

Gil Clancy, one of Griffith's two managers, said, "It's okay by me, too," and Clancy and Griffith shook hands on the deal.

Griffith said he was looking forward to his holiday.

"This fight was a lot tougher than I expected," the champion said.

"I tried to finish the fight earlier and thought I had him going once or twice — but he certainly wanted the title. He kept coming back and I couldn't polish him off."

Griffith set the pace from the start of the 15-rounder and battered the gallant Welshman so hard at times that it looked certain the challenger would be knocked out. Somehow the super-fit Curvis hung on. It was his second defeat in 32 pro bouts.

Griffith earned $56,000 for his 10th welterweight title fight. He has an 8-2 record for these, regaining the crown quickly each time after the defeats. His over-all record is 42-5. Curvis earned about $14,000.

Referee Harry Gibbs, the sole official, raised Griffith's right arm as a symbol of his victory.

His scorecard, per custom, was not disclosed. The Associated Press had Griffith in front, 9-4 with two rounds even. Each weighed 145½.

"It was the old story of the amateur style of British boxing being unable to cope with the two-handed, non-stop fighting tactics of a trans-Atlantic champion," wrote Peter Wilson, boxing writer of the Daily Mirror.

Other writers had similar comment.

49ers' Cooper Out for Season; Smith Indefinitely

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Linebacker Bill Cooper will be out for the rest of the season, the San Francisco 49ers said Tuesday, and fullback J. D. Smith may be benched indefinitely with injuries.

Cooper underwent surgery Tuesday for torn ligaments and pulled muscles in his left knee, an injury suffered Sunday in the 49er-Eagles game.

A 49er spokesman said Smith's condition was uncertain. He also suffered a leg injury in the game.

Smith may also undergo surgery, the spokesman said.

and Joe Pepitone connecting in the opener and Mickey Mantle and Phil Lutz in the nightcap.

Berra had a broad grin in the happy Yankee dressing room. "I feel more like a genius than I did a month ago," he said.

Linz, who was fined $200 in the celebrated harmonica playing incident during last month's losing streak, was happy too. "If we clinch the pennant," he said, "I'll bring my harmonica in the dressing room and play a tune."

Baltimore lost it when Al Kaline crashed a two-run homer in the first inning, rubbing out a 1-0 Oriole lead.

Ed Rakow relieved Tiger starter Hank Aguirre after four straight walks forced in a run. He got out of the jam and Orioles loaded the bases again. Julio Navarro came on and retired Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens on pop flies to end it.

Strand 13 Runners
The Orioles stranded 13 runners as Rakow beat them for the third time. Milt Pappas, 15-6, was the loser.

The White Sox never got started against the Angels' Fred Newman, who throttled them with a five-hitter for his 13th victory.

Three of Chicago's hits were high bouncers in front of the plate and the Sox never posed a serious threat. Rookie Bruce Howard, making his first major league start, pitched a strong five-hitter but was tagged with the loss.

The only run of the game came in the third inning with two out when Jim Fregosi doubled and Willie Smith singled him home.

Pinch Double
The Red Sox scored all their runs in the ninth and Bill Monbouquette, who hurled a five-hitter, worked out of a bases-loaded spot in the bottom half to beat the Senators. Al Smith's pinch double was the key hit for Boston.

Ed Charles clouted a three-run homer and Bill Bryan followed with a pinch hit home run as the Athletics passed the Twins in the ninth inning. There were five other homers in the game.

Redskin Linebacker Anxious to Prove Giants Made Mistake

NEW YORK (AP) — A four-act melodrama entitled "The Revenge of Sam Huff" will play a one-night stand Friday at Yankee Stadium.

Sam's violent world rocked and rolled when the New York Giants traded him to Washington last winter. Once he recovered from a state of shock, Huff reported to the Redskins, determined to prove the Giants and Coach Allie Sherman made a mistake.

When the Giants and Redskins met in an exhibition game at Ithaca in August, Huff did his part in an upset victory by Washington.

Now comes the big night, the return to Yankee Stadium which used to echo with the locomotive chants of "Huff, Huff, Huff, Huff."

Sherman, who has enough troubles with Y. A. Tittle hurt and two defeats already charged against the Giants, is playing it cool.

Improved Club
"Washington is an improved club," said Sherman Tuesday at the stadium. "They are much better defensively with help from Huff in recent years they had scoring power but they couldn't contain you."

Sherman insists the trades had nothing to do with the lack of effectiveness of the defense in the early days of the season.

"We have had consistent play from Lou Slaby (Huff's replacement at middle linebacker)," said Sherman.

"Andy Stynchula (the tackle who came to the Giants with halfback Dick James for Huff and George Seals) has done a good job as anyone on defense. And James has shown us he can carry the ball and do more things than any back we have had in the last three years."

With the Giants losing their first two regular season games, after blowing four of five exhibitions, the heat is on The Huff fans are coming out of the woodwork to haunt Sherman.

"When you're going bad, it even hits home to the family," said Sherman in a light moment.

"My youngest daughter, who is 5, never paid any attention when daddy went away. This week she asked me how we made out. When I told her we lost, she said."

"Daddy, why did you trade Sam Huff?"

Steelers' Harrison May See Limited Action
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League said Tuesday linebacker Bob Harrison may see limited action in Sunday's game with the Dallas Cowboys at Pitt Stadium.

Harrison has missed the season's first two games because of a shoulder separation. Dan LaRose, a defensive end with a knee injury, probably will not play, Parker said.

European Tiger Act One Of Circus Headliners

Charly Baumann Former Actor, Now Ringling Star Coming to Arena Oct. 2-4

If Charly Baumann were appearing on the Broadway stage today, critics might be hailing him as a new matinee idol. He is young, handsome and can act.

He was an accomplished child star with a promising future in German movies when the last war came along. As he grew up, he made the switch from acting to performing with jungle beasts.

The stage's loss is the circus fan's gain, for Charly has one of the best animal acts in the world today. He will star in the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey show coming to the Brown County Memorial Arena in Green Bay Oct. 2, 3 and 4.

Charly (he spells his Christian name without the customary "e") is billed as the stellar attraction of the steel cage. He shares the spotlight with eight tigers, sleek beauties of Russian Siberian and Bengal varieties.

Host is Frederic March.

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — On The Virginian, Trampas (Doug McClure) is given a chance to shine and whine in "Dark Challenge." The ranch hand suddenly finds himself in a pithy situation after he is offered a handsome ranch of his own by guest star Victor Jory. (COLOR)

AHS Yearbook Wins Top Rating

Clarion, the Appleton High School yearbook, has received its third consecutive All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. All-American is the highest rating possible.

Schools belonging to the NSPAA submit their publications for critical evaluation. Each entry is grouped according to the size of the school. AHS was in the category of 1,901 to 2,000 students on the basis of last year's enrollment.

Special commendation was given for general layout and opening section. NSPAA yearbook judge Mary Vos tallied a higher total score for this publication than received the two previous years.

Schools to Get Out of 'Wilderness'

BY TV SCOUT

The Appleton school board has decided something must be done about "the wildernesses outside our schools."

During a discussion of the proposed 1965 budget, Monday board member Kenneth Sager asked "whether we have enough people to take care of the wildernesses we have outside our schools." He mentioned high shrubbery and two-foot high tiles.

Mrs. George Munro said complaints have been received for several years about the condition of the school grounds.

Board member Charles Buchanan suggested that college students be hired as part-time summer help to take care of school grounds.

Mrs. Munro suggested that a bequest from the Peabody will for beautification of school grounds with shrubs and trees be invested and the income used to help hire a grounds crew. The bequest totals almost $10,000.

Illinois Judge Facing Charge Of Manslaughter

CHICAGO (AP) — An associate Circuit Court judge has been suspended from the bench and charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of an elderly electrician outside a tavern.

Judge Wayne W. Olson, 33, was free on $10,000 bond today as authorities sought to unravel circumstances involving the death of Lawrence Benner, 60, a suburban Oak Park electrician.

Another man, William Johnson, 48, a suburban Prospect Heights piano player, was held in lieu of $10,000 bond and charged with manslaughter.

Chief Judge John S. Boyle of Circuit Court said the body of Benner was found outside the Alibi Inn in suburban North Riverside early Tuesday morning. Olson lives in North Riverside.

Coroner Andrew Toman of Cook County said Benner died of a skull fracture. Police said a .38-caliber pistol was found in Benner's hand, but it had not been discharged.

Boyle said Judge Olson, Johnson and his wife Mary, and Ralph McDonald, 27, of suburban Skokie, reportedly became embroiled in an argument with Benner at the tavern.

The Goldwater Campaign

Why hasn't Barry Goldwater thus far in the campaign become the fighting spokesman for the conservative philosophy of government? Why hasn't he clearly enunciated that sharp line between conservatives and liberals his supporters promised and his admirers desired? What specifically would he do to change the direction of federal legislation and administration from the drift toward socialism?

These are the questions which plague the independent voter as the campaign drags on. And as the time shortens the wonder grows that no answers are forthcoming.

Last week Mr. Goldwater engaged a half hour of prime evening television time to enunciate one simple message. He is for peace.

By inference then Mr. Johnson is for war. Mr. Goldwater put it a bit more delicately. He said the Johnson administration is pursuing a policy of weakness toward Communism, and that such weakness can lead to war. He said he endorsed the Eisenhower motto of peace through preparedness; that the motto of the Johnson regime is unilateral disarmament.

Let's examine this logically. Mr. Goldwater can hardly believe he will gain any votes by proclaiming himself for peace. Every American is for peace in general and it is a terrible accusation to say that Mr. Johnson is for war. Then what Mr. Goldwater really hopes to sell to the uncommitted voter is that Johnson administration policies are leading us to war. Is this the most convincing argument he can find to advance in half an hour of expensive television time? If it is his campaign is sterile.

Certainly we are in trouble in Viet Nam and in Berlin and in Cuba. But these are not of Johnson's making. These problems have plagued us for years. And if Mr. Goldwater really believes he can solve them, he owes it to the country to tell us how.

Would he, for instance, order the United States Army to tear down the Berlin Wall? Would he commit U. S. forces directly against the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam? Or would he order the Marines to invade Cuba? If he does not intend such drastic actions, what would he do to alter the course of events in these trouble spots?

We are gaining the feeling that Mr. Goldwater is intentionally conducting a sterile and antiseptic campaign. Is it possible his strategists fear that every time he "shoots from the lip" he creates another contradiction to his previous declarations and his record in Congress? Is this why he has declared himself only for such stereotyped ideals as less taxes, keeping mother's boy out of the service—and peace?

Mr. Goldwater has six weeks to convince the uncommitted voter that he would be a better president than Lyndon Johnson. Such a voter probably has a number of reservations about Mr. Johnson, but LBJ is in and Barry is out and Barry must offer a number of pluses to beat a president riding the crest of national prosperity.

The conservatives in the Republican party have claimed they have been disenfranchised in recent elections by Republican candidates who echoed the middle-of-the-road philosophy. Many Americans sincerely welcomed a test of the popular strength of conservatives versus liberals. But Mr. Goldwater to date has not seized the leadership of the conservative doctrine. What conservative views he has uttered he has confused with platitudes designed to attract the unthinking voter.

Let's have that test, but let's make it a real one. An overwhelming victory for Mr. Johnson as is now indicated might well lead us galloping down the socialist path.

Barry Goldwater took on a tremendous responsibility when he assumed the task of defending this nation against socialism. It is time he carried out that responsibility by enunciating the conservative philosophy so that Americans of that persuasion can trust and understand him.

U. S. Intelligence Information On Cuba Practically Negligible

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

There is a very good reason why President Johnson is trying to keep Cuba out of the presidential campaign.

The President has about as much idea of what is actually going on in Cuba as those left-wing students who defied the U.S. travel ban to enjoy a carefully guided tour of selected areas of Castro's Communist spy-paradise.

Despite the nearly $2 billion the American taxpayers poured into intelligence gathering operations since the Cuban missile crisis, the Central Intelligence Agency hasn't been able to give the White House the cargoes of more than half of the 2,000 ships that have docked in Cuban ports.

In over 50 per cent of these ship arrivals, the Russian-dictated security measures were so iron-clad tight that the CIA wasn't able to come up with even an educated guess of what was unloaded from these vessels.

Like the "see-nothing, hear-nothing, do-nothing" policy in effect in early 1962, the policy-making team of Secretary of State Rusk, Ambassador at Large Llewellyn E. Thompson, and Deputy Under Secretary W. Averell Harriman appear to be more interested in not upsetting the growing U.S. intercourse with Russia than in finding out Soviet military capabilities or intentions on the island.

Although the State Department trio have "reputations" of being on intimate terms with Soviet diplomats, none of these officials apparently have tried to good avail with these sources to learn what Russia is shipping to Castro.

If they obtained any details from these Communist sources, the trio haven't taken the time out to brief the Joint Chiefs of Staff or CIA Director John McCone. These presidential advisers, upon whom the security of this country rests, are still relying on an occasional reconnaissance flight over Cuba for their intelligence.

These overflights, which are becoming less frequent each month, are almost meaningless now because of the Soviet tight security on the ships, and the Communists' increased use of camouflage to hide their activities.

MYSTERIOUS CARGO — Anti-Castro refugees, bringing out warnings of new Communist arms arrivals, report that it is almost impossible for them to sneak into dock areas without being detected by Soviet security guards.

They point out that much of the unloading is now taking place under the greatest secrecy and that most of the cargo arrives in large, sealed crates to hide its identity.

In reports to this column, these refugees complain bitterly that U.S. authorities are more concerned with trying to bar them from going back and forth to Cuba than with obtaining their information on Soviet activities on the island.

They stress that it is now harder for their raiders to leave the U.S. for Cuba than when the anti-raid ban was first put into effect by the late President Kennedy.

The anti-Castro refugees say that all of their successful raids are being conducted from one Central American nation, but that these hit-and-miss attacks are only "pinprick" operations.

THE "FISHING PORTS" — The most mysterious recent Russian activity in Cuba involves the building and equipping of the so-called "fishing ports" near Havana, and Banos.

According to a Cuban Radio broadcast monitored by the CIA, German Amado Bianco, the deputy minister of foreign trade, boasted, "With the construction of the Havana fishing port, we will start to service a series of Cuban and Soviet ships which fish in the Atlantic Ocean."

He bluntly reported that the Russians were furnishing a complete radio station, and large drydock facilities, which could be used by Russian submarines and naval ships, as well as their fishing vessels.

Together the two ports will be able to serve 200 ships of the Soviet fleet and from 40 to 60 Cuban vessels. The ports will have their own power stations and anti-aircraft missiles.

The last time a Castro official announced, in 1962, that the Russians were supplying a large drydock was followed by the sneak shipment of Soviet IRBMs and jet bombers to Cuba.

Since this country's intelligence on Cuba hasn't improved in the past two years, only Heaven, Premier Khrushchev, and a handful of his trusted advisers know what is in store for us this time.

Applying Sales Tax to Food and Clothing Is Very Boring Argument

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Perhaps the most tiresome of the arguments in the current campaign involves the charge and counter-charge about applying the state sales tax to food, clothing and the necessities of life.

Politicians do what they feel they must do, or what they are persuaded will be productive in vote-winning terms, especially when they are being pressed hard. Thus Gov. Reynolds is using as a major theme of his re-election drive the argument that without him the Republican legislature would have imposed a complete sales tax, across the board, without any exception whatever. Implicit is an appeal to those who don't want that kind of taxation to support him out of gratitude and as a kind of insurance policy against such an undesirable policy in the future.

It has been a central part of Republican Warren P. Knowles campaign strategy to keep on the offensive. But apparently the staccato declarations of Reynolds on the sales tax question have worried him. He is now replying with hot denials.

THE STORY

Here are the relevant and demonstrable elements of the situation.

1. Nobody now holding public office in Wisconsin, as far as the record shows, wants an across - the - board sales tax that would reach down to tax the grocery bill of the average man, and nobody surely has proposed such a tax thus far.

2. The Republican candidate for governor in the current campaign is pledged to such a position as absolutely as is the Democratic nominee, Mr. Reynolds.

3. Unless there is a calamitous crisis in state fiscal affairs that nobody can now foresee, no such tax levy is likely to be adopted in Wisconsin in predictable times.

4. The governor is mistaken, considering the whole history of the frantic sales tax arguments within the state in recent times, when he accuses the Republicans of having voted for such a tax.

5. The Republicans erred grievously when they wrote their own sales tax bills in the 1961 and 1963 legislative sessions in such a way as to invite the accusation that they wanted to tax the necessities, and to invite the misleading of the inattentive voter.

The record is clear that the Republican sales tax bills asked for across-the-board taxation in the interest of administrative simplicity and efficiency. Yet any account of the incident, to be historically objective, must hasten to add and to emphasize that those proposals provided for a food and clothing exemption equivalent by means of the so-called income tax credit, or cash refund.

The income tax credit scheme, ardently promoted by some amateur policymakers on the outskirts of the political system and accepted by the Republican legislative leaders in an unguarded moment, was one of the most abortive devices ever seriously considered by a political party. It was so indifferently understood at the time, in spite of strenuous publicity efforts, that it was clearly hurtful to the authors. It is so poorly remembered now, only a couple of years later, that the Democrats can ignore it with evident impunity as they accuse the Republicans of having a record of trying to tax food.

There is no more likelihood that food and clothing and such health aids as drugs will ever be taxed under the sales tax as that the personal income tax exemptions will ever be eliminated. These are the untouchables of the tax base. But there is every likelihood that because of their immunity the sales tax rates and the sales tax coverage otherwise, and the income tax rates, will continue to rise in the future — which may lead some taxpayers to wonder whether the question is really very important.

Strictly Personal

Why Do Americans Seem Mass-Produced?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of my colleagues was relating at lunch the other day how his son — a strapping college student — had been forced to shave off his new-grown beard because of the jibes and jabs of his friends, both male and female, as well as the oblique taunts of perfect strangers.

We went on from there to discuss that oddest and most perplexing paradox in American life: That, while we pretend to believe in "individualism," we do everything possible to stifle the individual spirit in ourselves and in others around us.

Perhaps nowhere else in the world — except in savage tribes that are ruled by totem and taboo — is there such a horror of non-conforming, of differing from the norm. Even the traditional stuffy Englishman is a satyr with ivy in his hair compared to us.

Why a man, even a young man, with a beard should be an object of derision in American society is a subject I cannot pretend to answer. On esthetic or hygienic grounds we might justly object to a beard — but his detractors opposed it merely because it was different, because it looked "queer" or "beat."

Americans would rather do anything than be different. We are the most mass-produced people in the world. Even our thinking — or what passes for it — is predigested on a mass scale: whatever is novel, independent or heretical has less and less opportunity to be heard.

Everything is built to look as much as possible like everything else. Even our concept of "beauty" as exemplified by the movie stars, is so thoroughly standardized that it is virtually impossible to tell one Hollywood siren from another without a pair of calipers. One attraction of foreign movies, indeed, is the individual characters who look like distinct human beings, waris and all.

No matter how much we may trumpet the praises of individualism in the realm of commerce and industry, we are not really a free nation until we learn to act as individuals in our social and cultural life, to encourage and embrace the vital differences among people. An homogenized capitalist society is not much better than an homogenized Soviet society.

When that boy can braid his beard, put a purple ribbon in it, and walk down the avenue untainted by his fellow men, then and only then will we be truly a nation of individuals, in the deepest and most meaningful sense of that much-abused and cheapened word.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

Senator Goldwater accuses the President of the ultimate in sneaky tactics—making the country prosperous to cover up the fact that it is going broke.

The $86 million House office building isn't finished, but already auditors are snooping around. That's silly. A place can't have skeletons in closets that haven't been built yet. Can it?

Goldwater criticizes Mr. Johnson for dropping reference to Cuba in his prepared speech. The Senator feels you should stick by what you wish you had said until you get a chance to deny it.

A House committee refuses to put up $1.9 million for a program to discourage smoking. They figure the people who write cigarette commercials are already doing what can be done along this line.

Feel a Grumble Coming On?

It's all right to grumble now and then as long as it doesn't become habitual.

The other day we—like many other Fox Cities residents—found ourselves complaining about the inconveniences brought about by many municipal projects.

All those torn up and barricaded streets, sewer trenches dug in various parts of the city, contractors' trucks going back and forth about town, detours . . . they all got under our skin.

After letting off steam and taking a second look at all the progress around us . . . came the dawn.

The city actually undertook these many improvements because we were among the citizens who complained about street and basement flooding, rundown streets, traffic jams, rundown bridges and what have you.

And then it was recalled that last spring a timetable was arranged for many of these projects so residents would have the least inconvenience. However, somewhere along the line the schedule got thrown a curve. Because two major street projects became engulfed in controversy, their starting dates were changed and work delayed for several weeks. And now the big rush is on to get it done. Some of these things are worth remembering when you feel another grumble coming on.

Castro's Troubles Multiply

Some months ago there was wide concern in the United States because our allies, England and France, were doing business with Castro's Cuba. Deals were made to sell buses, trucks and other such equipment to Castro on credit deals.

But any sign that the deals bailed Castro out of his increasingly desperate financial difficulties has evaporated. Fidel just announced that, due to the dropping market price of sugar, any more such trade with Western nations will have to be curtailed. And we suspect that one of the unhappiest individuals is Khrushchev.

A year ago, the world market price of sugar was 13 cents per pound. Last winter the Soviet Union signed an agreement with Cuba to buy a certain amount of its sugar or use it in barter for 6 cents a pound. This week the world market price has dropped to 3½ cents a pound. Moreover, there has been very little said about the renewal of various Soviet-Cuban trade agreements since Russia has had to pay for some exports due to the inability of Cuba to produce the agricultural and industrial magnificence it grandly promised.

Russia actually encouraged Cuba to turn to the West for credit deals last winter, apparently in the hope that this would take some of the pressure off the Soviet Union. But, although some trade agreements were reached in long term credit, England and France are too sound financially to extend a great deal of such credit to a nation with a regime as politically unstable as Castro's.

All of this adds up to bad news for the Kremlin. The Cuban experiment, as far as the Russians are concerned, is an appalling failure. They are unable to control Cuba's communism, so far they've been unable to export it due to the increasing awareness of the dangers of communism in Latin American nations, and still they must promise to defend it and to some extent to support it.

We have discussed the inability of the United States to cut off trade by our Allies with Cuba in an effort to strangle the Castro regime. We do not know exactly how much of the difficulty Cuba is now experiencing is due to the voluntary boycotts by most Latin American nations.

But it is clear that communism as such has been an abject failure economically in Cuba. And since there seems to be some doubt that the Soviet Union is willing to re-negotiate its trade agreements with Castro—at least on the same terms as before—Cuba also stands as a sorry monument to Russian mistakes and miscalculations. We can hope that the Kremlin leaders will keep Cuba in mind if they again encourage the setting up of a communist regime that turns to the Soviet Union for protection and aid.

Looking Backward

Military Draft Hurts County Fair

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 24, 1864.

The Outagamie County Fair was not a complete success. Although by no means a failure. The interest of the people has been taken up with the anticipated draft to such an extent that the Fair, if not forgotten, was neglected by many who heretofore contributed liberally and materially to the exhibition.

As it is, the show of cattle, horses, sheep and pigs was quite good but not equal in extent to previous years. In the vegetable kingdom there were some fine specimens in spite of the summer drought. In the "fine arts" department the show was meagre indeed.

The ladies of this city had done comparatively nothing to aid the exhibition, although, of course, there were exceptions.

In fruit, we believe there were but two lots on exhibition — by J. H. Cooley and the Rev. D. H. Carver — and a few grapes by Mr. R. Pearson. Mr. Carver had a large variety, and some of them very fine specimens.

President Mason, of the University, delivered an appropriate and practical address, which should be in the hands of every man in Outagamie County.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1939.

Hitler's speech in reclaimed Danzig the previous day was interpreted by some observers as a warning that German air power might be sent over Britain unless the British blockade were lifted. Britain and France both held firm and announced their determination to achieve their war aims. The Canadian government that day summoned trained fliers for immediate overseas duty and launched an organization of a volunteer expeditionary force of 32,000 to be available. In Washington, President Roosevelt was seeking support for quick neutrality action on the part of the United States.

Morvin E. Duell, Fond du Lac, was appointed state insurance director that day by Gov. Walter Heil. He resigned as Republican senator from

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 22, 1954.

Three jury commissioners were reappointed for the 10th Circuit Court by Judge Andrew W. Parnell—E. L. Bisel, Harold E. Roeder, both of Appleton, and M. F. Ziehm, Hortonville.

Mrs. John Berholtz, Greenville, was appointed health chairman for the Badge Belles Homemakers.

The Happy Eight Schafskopf Club met at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Schroeder, Appleton. Winners for the evening were Mrs. Ewald Semrow, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Emil Droes and Mrs. George Schmidt.

Mrs. David L. Smith and Miss Phyllis Greiner were the new leaders of Appleton Girl Scout Troop 119. Members of the troop committee included Mrs. Karel Richmond, chairman; Mrs. J. A. Schmieding and Mrs. Lawrence Tesch, telephone chairmen; Mrs. Evelyn Gauger, finance chairman; Mrs. William Siegel and Mrs. E. W. Bassett, cookie chairmen; Mrs. Ed Jacobi, transportation chairman, and Mrs. E. R. Mollander, publicity chairman.

Father of Five Admits Navarino Knife Killing

BY RAY PY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHAWANO—A Seymour father of five has admitted to a murder in the slaying of Mrs. Andrew Figlinski, route 1, Navarino. He said DeKeyser is hazy on details and authorities of Shawano and Outagamie County Sheriff Departments are attempting to reconstruct the events leading to the slaying.

Tuesday it was believed the woman may have died about 2 a.m., but today the time of death was undetermined.

DeKeyser was picked up Tuesday afternoon at a Green Bay metal working plant, where he was employed, and questioned by Brown County, Shawano and Outagamie County authorities.

At the time, DeKeyser told authorities he had struck up an acquaintance with Mrs. Figlinski in one of several Seymour taverns he visited Monday night.

Toured Taverns

He led police on a tour of the taverns he visited with Mrs. Figlinski, then showed them the area at Roselawn, a four-corner community one-half mile north of the Outagamie County line in Shawano County, where he last saw Mrs. Figlinski alive. He said the woman went into a tavern there.

Later, after questioning, DeKeyser said the woman asked him to drive her home, which he did. He apparently parked his car about 125 yards from the ramshackle style home of Mrs. Figlinski, and there argued with her.

While he was questioned by Shawano and Outagamie County authorities, detectives searched his car and found traces of blood in several places. The car

Warrant Issued

Sheriff Carl Krueger said a warrant was issued charging DeKeyser with second degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Andrew Figlinski, route 1, Navarino. He said DeKeyser is hazy on details and authorities of Shawano and Outagamie County Sheriff Departments are attempting to reconstruct the events leading to the slaying.

3 U. S. Cardinals Urge Support for Religious Freedom

Want Every Person to be Able to Make Own Choice

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY, (AP) —

Three American cardinals appealed to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today to pass a declaration that every human being has a right to complete religious freedom.

Conservative Spanish and Italian cardinals assailed the proposal as a danger to the Roman Catholic Church.

The clash came in one of the most dramatic sessions

During the same meeting in St. Peter's, the 2,500 council fathers voted approval of the very heart of the collegiality concept of shared power by Pope and bishops in governing the Church.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis — speaking for nearly all U.S. bishops — called on the council to defend religious liberty. They said approval of the declaration was an absolute necessity.

The opposition to the religious liberty declaration — one of the most controversial topics of the council — came from Cardinals Alfredo Ottaviani and Ernesto Ruffini of Italy, and Spanish Cardinals Fernando Quiroga and Jose Bueno.

They supported the view that public officials have the right to establish a state religion.

Cardinal Ottaviani, conservative head of the Vatican's Holy Office, was quoted as saying: "We must profess and defend the Catholic faith even if sometimes this brings persecution."

Council press officials reported the closed-door proceedings to newsmen.

Cardinal Cushing, in his first speech to the council, was quoted as saying: "The Church must become the champion of religious freedom."

"What we are asking," he said, "can be summed up in what has become an important phrase in traditional American life — 'decent respect for the opinions of mankind.'"

Telling the council that he spoke for "practically all the bishops of the United States," the Boston cardinal said:

"We must insist on this declaration because it is so important for all nations. It is something that the Catholic world and the non-Catholic world alike have been waiting for. At last it has been possible to have full

Johnson Hits At 'Extremism'

Tells Labor Unions U. S. Way of Life at Stake in Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today voters in the Nov. 3 election will have "a choice between the center and the fringe — between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes."

Johnson, in an address prepared for six labor union audiences — five of them hearing him on closed-circuit television — said that "the heart of our American way of life... is under attack — and those who love it must go forth now to save it."

Not Party Strife

The President said "Americans are not presented with a choice of parties," nor with "a choice of liberalism and conservatism." He went on:

"Americans are faced today with a concerted bid for power by factions which oppose all that both parties have supported. It is a choice between the center and the fringe — between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes."

Loud Challenge

Johnson said that the challenge is loud and "the call of duty is clear."

"We are called to stand up and be counted," he said. "For we have a duty — a clear and compelling duty — to make it clear that America has not fallen and will not fall into the hands of extremists of any stripe."

The President, who arranged a personal appearance at the convention here of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said that "the heart of our American way of life... is under attack — and those who love it must go forth now to save it."

2 Lives Added to Traffic Deaths

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of a Racine County girl and a Beloit youth have raised Wisconsin's 1964 highway toll to 782, compared with 624 on this date a year ago.

Bridget Geoghan, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Geoghan of the town of Mount Pleasant, was killed Tuesday when she was struck by a car on Racine County Trunk H, south of Highway C.

John Zierfuss, 18, of Beloit died in a Rockford, Ill., hospital Tuesday from injuries suffered when the car driven by his father crashed just outside Beloit Sept. 12. Another passenger, David Delaney, 22, of Blue River was killed in the accident.

GOP Seeks Speed

Republicans, who offered the resolution ordering the investigation, backed it almost solidly in committee, would like to see it begun while Kennedy is campaigning for the U.S. Senate from New York.

The Teamsters Union, which has been the chief force behind the investigation move, would like to see action before President James R. Hoffa's conviction for jury-tampering is heard on appeal in December.

After the 20-13 vote that set the investigation in motion, Celler told newsmen: "Nobody asked for this investigation except those involved with the Teamsters Union. If it had not been for their agitation, there would be no investigation."

The Teamsters want the committee to look into charges that the Justice Department violated Hoffa's constitutional rights by its actions during his trial in Chattanooga. They first backed an investigation directed specifically to Hoffa's case.

The reluctance of many members to seem to be coming to the aid of Hoffa in an election year helped Celler bottle up that resolution. As a compromise, Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, came up with a resolution ordering an investigation of the Justice Department, but without mentioning Hoffa or anyone else.

As chairman of the special subcommittee created to conduct the investigation, Celler will have a lot to say about when it gets under way, but he'll be under heavy pressure to act promptly.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., whose committee ordered the inquiry Tuesday over his opposition, says he intends to try to keep anything from happening until after the November elections.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee hopes to defuse a politically explosive investigation of the Justice Department and former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Colombia Takes Precautions to Guard De Gaulle

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) —

A 9,000-man security force protected visiting President Charles de Gaulle today and sought a French terrorist believed hiding in Colombia's mountain capital.

Armed patrols roved Bogota's streets after an army warning that the terrorist "represents the gravest threat" to the safety of the 73-year-old French leader.

A communique issued two hours before De Gaulle arrived Tuesday on the second lap of his Latin-American tour identified the terrorist as Chateau Joverit. It said he was an organizer of the Secret Army organization that fought against independence for Algeria from France.

They were stranded when a thick cable, being installed to link instruments in the underground nuclear blast chamber with the surface, snapped and fell into a spaghetti-like tangle jamming the shaft.

A task force of workmen toiling around the clock finally cleared the cable, restored the elevator to operating condition, and began bringing the quartet up.

It took more than an hour for the two-man elevator to make the trip down to the 30-by-30-foot chamber and return. An elevator operator, Frank Solaegui, went down on the recovery tips.

"I'm well and happy to be upstairs," said Shaw, when he surfaced.

Danish Coalition Expected to Try to Form New Regime

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Socialist Premier Jens Otto Krag's coalition government resigned today after losing its one-vote majority in Parliament. Krag began looking around for allies to join him in a new government.

In a general election Tuesday, Krag's Social Democratic party retained its 76 seats, but its coalition partner — the Radical Liberals — lost a seat.

Krag, 50, handed the government's resignation to King Frederik IX and told newsmen he would advise the king to ask him to form a new government.

Traditionally, the king follows the advice of the largest group in Parliament, which the Social Democrats have been for more than three decades and still are.

The Socialists have twice as many seats as the second-place conservative party.

Santa Barbara District Hit By Brush Fire

30 Costly Homes Destroyed; Flames Checked Elsewhere

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Erratic 45-mile-an-hour winds ranned a brush fire into an exclusive residential district near Santa Barbara Tuesday night, destroying at least 30 expensive homes.

To the north 350 miles, forestry officials were optimistic that they had gained the upper hand over two raging forest fires in California's wine belt. The fires have charred 50,000 acres and destroyed more than 100 buildings.

The Santa Barbara fire, reported contained Tuesday afternoon, roared through the Montecito area east of the city, forcing evacuation of residents and 600 students at Westmont College.

Santa Barbara Threatened

U.S. Forest Service officials said there was a possibility the fire might extend into Santa Barbara proper, a coastal community of some 60,000 population about 50 miles north of Los Angeles.

The fire, shooting flames hundreds of feet into the air, broke out in a canyon in the afternoon. Aided by borate bombers, firemen had the blaze apparently contained at dusk before winds arose to drive it to new fury.

No Serious Injuries

Firefighters in both sections of the 700-mile-long state temperance their optimism with hope that dry winds — which had whipped the fires at 70 miles-an-hour at times — would remain quiet, choking off the flames.

By Tuesday night the fast-moving flames had swept wide swaths across Napa and Sonoma.

Wage Changes Being Studied

Outagamie Employees Examine Proposals Of Efficiency Firm

Employees of Outagamie County are presently studying wage adjustments recommended by a Chicago efficiency firm doing a personnel study of county operations.

The adjustment recommendations will be presented to the county board of supervisors next month. Employees and department heads have been asked by the firm to study the proposals and make any recommendations for changes before Sept. 30.

In almost all cases, the adjustments, as recommended, reflect a pay raise for most employees.

Employees have been placed in 10 occupational groups which range from a low for a beginning secretary of $231 per month to $950 per month for a beginning county administrator. There are 26 grade proposals for the remaining employees between the high and low positions.

The survey does not include pay recommendations for elective officials.

Subdivision Developers Will Install Storm Seewer System

Hortonville Board Offers to Reimburse Firm at $160 Per House

HORTONVILLE — The village board Thursday voted to have Mid City Realty Co., Milwaukee, developers of Black Otter Lake Subdivision, install storm sewers. The village will pay $160 for each house completed in the plat.

At an August meeting representatives of Mid City Realty, Inc., Green Bay engineering firm representing the Milwaukee Co., had requested the city to install storm sewers at an estimated cost of $16,000. The engineers expected about 100 homes to be built on the site.

The really company would install water and sanitary mains and incorporate a lift pump.

The board felt a pay-as-you-go basis would be more favorable than a lump sum payment.

Herb Poth said permission had been granted so that fill from Black Otter Lake bottom could be used to develop the subdivision.

The board will meet with Poth and owners of Black Otter Lake Subdivision to complete preliminary plans for shore line, boat houses, set back and trees at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13.

The street committee will meet with Willis Flunkner to discuss the plan.

Outagamie Requests Dismissal of Suit By Visiting Nurses

Outagamie County has asked that an action filed against it by the Visiting Nurses Association of Appleton to recover taxes assessed against the Peabody Manor in Appleton, be dismissed.

The association has named the county and the City of Appleton in its suit to lay aside approximately $11,000 in taxes for the year 1963 which were assessed against the institution. The taxes for that year have not been paid.

Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath has asked dismissal on grounds that the county in no way determines what taxes the institution must pay, "and therefore is not a party to the action."

Ponath filed his answer to the complaint in the clerk's office Friday, the same day the action was filed. City Attorney Frederick Froehlich has not filed his answer.

Clintonville Driver Asks No Pass Warning Signs

Says Yellow Stripes Inadequate After Charge Made of Passing Zone Violation

A Clintonville motorist charged by Outagamie County traffic police with a passing zone violation has started wheels moving for a warning signs program for state highway no passing zones.

Elmer Grant Sr., Clintonville, posted bond in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a charge of passing in a no passing zone on State 45. He was seen by a county patrolman driving across a yellow line marked on the highway to mark off the zone.

Signs Suggested

In a letter to Outagamie County Patrol Capt. Ronald Decker, Grant, through an attorney, said that the highway markings are inadequate and a driver often will not see the yellow stripes if he is watching for oncoming traffic or the car he is passing.

Grant's attorney, Robert W. Otto, of Clintonville, suggested that the highway markings be placed on the roadside in the no passing zone. He said that some states in the Midwest are abandoning the highway markings in place of roadside signs warning of "no passing."

Grant's letter was sent to the Wisconsin motor vehicle department which replied that a sign program is being considered, but manufacture of the signs and placement would take about a year. Wayne Volk, traffic engineer, said the program includes "no passing" signs in such areas, and further reminders to "pass with care" at the termination of the no passing zones.

Volk indicated that the program includes early implementation of the signs on 45, but he did not indicate when. Volk said the "no passing" sign program has been "experimental" in the states of Iowa, Michigan and Arizona.

Grant said he was not blaming the highway markings for his violation, but that he was interested in highway safety.

Waupaca Planners Okay Master Map Utility Phase

Property Assessment Increases in Waupaca At Request of State

$106,238 Higher Level Should Not Result in Tax Increase

WAUPACA — The valuation of real estate and personal property has increased approximately $106,238 over last year, according to a statement prepared by Assessor Henry Wiegell.

For the 1964 assessment, Wiegell has used the new 72 per cent of full value assessment level. Prior to this time a level of between 47 and 49 per cent of full value was being used. The increase in assessment level was put into force on a recommendation from the state.

Although the assessment level has been increased taxpayers of the city will not receive a tax boost unless there is an increase in school, county or state taxes, Mayor Lloyd Matheson said.

City Valuation

Using the new assessment level, total assessed valuation of the city is now $12,489,175. Of this $10,958,050 is real estate and $1,531,175 is personal property. Last year the total was $8,255,225. The new assessment level was achieved by making a 50 per cent increase across the board.

A breakdown of the valuation is residential, $8,254,850; mercantile, $2,203,150; manufacturing, $427,675 and agriculture, $72,375. There are 20 head of cattle in the city compared to 26 head last year. Land classed as agriculture totals 672 acres. Merchants' stock in the city has been assessed at $689,550 and the manufacturers' stock has been set at $171,175; machinery tools and patterns, $255,900; and furniture, fixtures and equipment at $356,550. All other personal property not exempt totals $56,400.

1,213 Homes

According to Wiegell's report there are 1,213 homes in the city, 177 merchants, 14 manufacturers and 14 farms.

This year the statement of assessment lists three colonies of bees which is a 50 per cent reduction from last year, when six colonies were listed.

VFW Auxiliary Chief To Visit in Waupaca

WAUPACA — Mrs. Vera Henke, Westfield, VFW Auxiliary Seventh District president, will make her official visit to the Waupaca post Oct. 19, according to an announcement made at a local auxiliary meeting Monday night.

A dinner will precede the meeting. The time and place will be announced later.

Proposal Includes Program for Water, Sewer Improvements in City; Awaits Council Approval

WAUPACA — The utility plan—the final section of phase one of the Waupaca master plan program—was approved Tuesday by the planning board.

The recommendation to accept the first phase will now go to city council for final approval.

First phase of the development plan is mainly an analysis of the present city facilities along with some recommendations. Phase two will include zoning, subdividing, capital improvements and an official city map.

To Sign Contract

Phase two, Mayor Lloyd Matheson said will perhaps have the greatest impact on the population of the city because it will go into effect shortly after the planning program is completed, which will be within the next year.

Two representatives from the State Department of Resource Development were at the meeting and told the planning board the state contract for the second phase of the program will be signed in the near future. They also said plans for Towns of Farmington, Waupaca and Dayton will be coordinated with the plan for the city.

Recommendations for the sanitary sewer system call for extension to the east and general expansion along the present system. Waupaca has maintained a generally adequate system of sanitary sewers and the trunk lines, sewer mains and lift stations have been designed to handle the present requirements and anticipated future expansions; Green said.

Recommend Fee

A sewer service charge has also been recommended in the group. He said Waupaca is one of the few communities in the state with a sewage treatment plant and no charge.

A sewer service charge would enable the city to raise funds for maintaining the present system and for future expansion. The water system also is adequate. The three wells have a capacity of 3.24 million gallons per day and at present, the average pumped is about 2 million gallons per day. Green said. However, it has been recommended a fourth well be drilled and another storage tank be constructed.

The city has a 311,000-gallon ground storage tank just north of Fulton Street opposite Center Street.

Fire Protection

By increasing the capacity of some of the city's water mains, adequate fire protection will be afforded the city for several years.

Proposed storm sewer improvements call for a 24-inch storm sewer from W. Fulton Street to Badger Street along S. Franklin. Another 18-inch storm sewer starting at the corner of S. Franklin Street and W. Sessions Street will drain alone W. Sessions Street east to the Waupaca River.

Flooding presently occurs between W. Fulton and Sessions St. in the vicinity of Franklin and can be remedied by adding a 24-inch main along Franklin Street between Sessions and Fulton Streets, Green said.

New storm sewer also is recommended for Churchill Street. Matheson said this project will be done when the street is repaired and used for one of the access streets from the U. S. 10 bypass.

Officials Still In Dark Over Arlan Store Plans

Appleton officials say they are in the dark concerning the plans of Arlan's Department Stores to open a shopping center here in 1965.

The New York-based firm announced recently it plans a $1 million shopping complex here but did not disclose the location. City officials and real estate men claim they do not know where the firm intends to build.

Originally, Arlan's wanted to build on the far northeast side but was discouraged due to the objections of some people living in that area.

A recent financial statement by Arlan's shows sales and earnings for the six months ended Aug. 1 set records.

Net income totaled $1,426,903, equal to $1.41 per share on sales of $74,394,798.

Arlan's now has 41 stores in operation as compared to 36 in the like period a year ago.

Adopted Land Good to Her

Grateful Chilton Immigrant Gives United States, Church Half of Estate

CHILTON — Because her adopted land and a Catholic church were good to her, an immigrant laborer has willed half the residue of her estate to the United States and the church.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has been notified by Chilton Attorney F. J. Schmieder of the request of Mrs. Nick (Anna) Salaja, route 4, who lived here many years.

Mrs. Salaja, who died July 31 at the age of 78, designated in her will that the United States of America and St. Mary Catholic Church, Chilton, should share equally in the remainder of her estate after a special bequest of $300 was paid her only heir, Melania Sekerak, a sister, Barabarat, Ohio.

Mrs. Salaja was born June 29, 1886, and came to this country from Austria, Hungary, in 1908.

For many years she and her husband worked as field hands. Mr. Salaja operated a small tavern near Chilton and also worked a factory laborer. He died about eight years ago.

"We Are Grateful"

In making her will, dated Nov. 21, 1956, Mrs. Salaja explained the reasons for her bequests.

"I do this for several reasons, first we never had children by our marriage so that I have no obligations in that respect; secondly both my husband and myself came to this country from foreign lands and both our church and adopted land were very good to us. For this we are grateful."

The will was admitted to probate by Calumet County Judge D. H. Seborra, Sept. 8.

The estate consists of a small amount of cash and a modest home which will be sold at auction. Total assets are not expected to exceed $4,000.

Shotgun Willie Has Lost His Drinking Partner and Buddy, Vi

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The world will be different now for Shotgun Willie Figlinski. He has lost his drinking partner, Vi, whose rotund 200-pound body was found in a ditch Tuesday morning, throat slit and clothing in disarray and partially removed.

Shotgun Willie is really Andrew Figlinski, a bewildered little man who Tuesday afternoon was deeply engrossed in drowning his sorrow at a Seymour bar. After all, Vi was dead, the victim of a slaying which, as murder goes, was most foul indeed.

Soon Willie will venture once again on his visits to the area dumps to collect discarded bottles which he sells for two cents each. He'll be doing it without Vi.

Drown Sorrows

He'll wander around a little alone in his car, choose a grocer to trade with. Then, without Vi's advice, he'll probably get a ring of baloney, a gallon or two of gas for his car. Then, once again, he may choose to drown his sorrows with the remainder.

Willie and Vi quarreled a bit in the taverns, raising their voices sharply to each other, complaining to one another, but their spats were not serious. They were cohorts, buddies, drinking pals.

Monday it was that way. Willie and Vi had been making the rounds until about 7 p.m. They had a little money, and Vi even bought a couple of drinks. But when they argued, Willie just went home. Vi would find her way later. She always managed, even at her age, 60.

When Orville Balthazar, a bus driver for the Navarino school system discovered Vi's heavy body — that's the next time Willie saw Vi. It was 7:30 a.m. and the gentle bus driver suffered severely from the shock.

Wondered Why

Willie told police officers: "I wondered why she didn't come home last night."

The home of Vi and Willie is ramshackle and rented. Covered with a silver-toned tarpaper, it wasn't a bad house for Willie and Vi. One doesn't find too many exchangeable bottles in dumps these days.

But in recent days, Vi had been jubilant.

"I'm coming into some money pretty soon," she told tavern pals. "I'm going to get a place of my own, a real nice place." As the days went by, Vi's visions of money seemed to grow larger, more expansive. Monday night, she announced: "I got the money. I got $50,000."

Mother Had Died

Vi's fortune, whatever it was to be, had not really come to her but it was nice to talk about. Her mother had died in Milwaukee but the will had not yet been probated although Vi liked to talk about it.

Vi was Willie's third wife but now, once more, he is alone and living in the small house with the junk-strewn back yard where he keeps two fiercely attentive dogs and more than enough signs which read grimly, "Keep Off," "Private Property," "No Trespassing," and "Beware of the Dogs."

Just across the road from the house — about 125 yards away — that's where Vi's body had been found by the horrified bus driver, her stained slacks removed from one limb, her undergarment shoved into the wounded throat — there was a minor spot of blood.

All day long little ladies drove up and down the road asking the same question, "Can you please tell me where the body was found?"

Half Forgotten Joke

Willie, who likes privacy, doesn't like that kind of attention. Who can blame him for seeking the befuddlement found in a few glasses of beer.

His friends call him "Shotgun Willie" for some half forgotten joke of long ago; and his murdered wife, Violet, a former Milwaukeean, was generally known as Vi and considered a pretty good sport.

Her friendliness and camaraderie led somehow to the evil events of her murder; and the murder has left small Willie Figlinski alone once again, to drink alone, and to seek alone the small treasures of the area dumps. Willie has lost his partner.

2 Green Bay Men Drowned on Bay

The bodies of three men who drowned in Wisconsin waters while fishing were recovered Tuesday.

The bodies of Russell Longrie, 27, and Richard Dombrowski, 24, both of Green Bay, were found in Green Bay, while the body of Edmund Wilkiewicz, 35, of Arlington Heights, Ill., was recovered by Dane County authorities in Lake Kegonsa near Stoughton.

Longrie, Dombrowski and Roger Naniot, 26, of Green Bay, last were seen fishing from a boat near Green Bay's eastern shore Sept. 13. Naniot's body was recovered last Saturday.

Wilkiewicz drowned last Friday when he toppled from a boat while fishing.

These Bottles Represent the last business transaction of Vi and Willie Figlinski, as partners. With the proceeds from the sale they bought a little gas for the car, a ring of baloney and beer. Murder came later. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Steve Allen to End TV Program

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Allen says he is ending his nightly syndicated television production, "The Steve Allen Show," effective Oct. 23.

The actor said Tuesday that Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. had released him from his contract so he could devote full time to his role as host of the weekly "I've Got a Secret" program on CBS-TV.

Allen has been commuting between New York and Hollywood to tape the shows. "It was just too much," said a spokesman for the actor.

Derailment Damages Station in Missouri

LA PLATA, Mo. (AP) — The Wabash Railroad station in La Plata was damaged extensively Monday evening as 15 cars of a 57-car southbound freight train derailed at that spot.

No one was injured. Witnesses said a transient was on top of a boxcar that partly overturned, but he held on until the car came to a stop, then he climbed down and walked away.

NFO Pickets At Dale Stockyard

Outagamie County Sheriff deputies were called about 9 a.m. when NFO members refused to leave the packing company property after being asked to do so by Armour buyer, Ken Mainville, Green Bay. They left the yard, however, before deputies arrived.

Robert Matz, New London, Outagamie NFO chairman, said the sheriff department had been notified of the organization's intent to picket at the yard.

NFO members did not attempt to prevent stock from entering the yard and only on occasion did they talk to the shippers in an effort to persuade them from selling stock.

Sheriff authorities and NFO members conferred for more than a half-hour.

Lawrence to Show Downer Art Works

More Than Dozen Paintings In University's First Display

More than a dozen paintings from the permanent collection of the former Milwaukee-Downer College comprises the opening show of the season at the Worcester Art Center at Lawrence University.

When Lawrence and Downer merged July 1, the pictures along with a substantial number not yet displayed came to the Appleton campus for permanent housing in the Worcester building.

Most important works in the show are by four artists of international reputation: French Impressionist Raoul Dufy's "Obelisk at Hyeres," painted around 1926; American John Marin's watercolor of "Maine Islands," an oil "Portrait of an American Man" by early French cubist Jean Metzinger; and a portrait "Two Children" by French romanticist William Adolphe Bouguereau. There are two other 19th century romantic oils by Birge Harrison and Regis Gignoux, as well.

State Artist

Wisconsin artists in the show are Emily Groom, who served for more than 30 years on the Downer faculty; Carl Ritter, Downer professor of art now leave in Iran; Karl Knath and Nina K. Griffin.

A contemporary painting titled "Canal in Thailand" was done by Banchong Kosolwat, and bought from a Thai exhibit shown at Downer.

Dufy, who died in 1953, was particularly known for two series of subjects — one of race-track scenes and another group of landscapes from southern France. The Lawrence picture is one of the latter set.

Also of special interest is the Metzinger work. An early cubist who anticipated Braque, Metzinger reduced subjects and surfaces to flat, angular planes. The picture was purchased in Paris during the early years of Spitzer, born in 1922 and raised on a Waukesha County farm, reached the presidency of his company before his 37th birthday. He has spoken throughout the United States on Americanism, opportunity, education and freedom.

UW Degree
Spitzer was educated at the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in agriculture, a master of science degree in chemistry and animal nutrition and a doctorate in animal nutrition.

He came to Murphy Products Co., a manufacturer of animal and poultry feeds, as director of research in 1947, and has served as vice president of research and promotion, executive vice president and president. He became president and general manager in 1960.

Spitzer is a director of the American Feed Manufacturers

Association, a director of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, vice president of the UW Alumni Association and vice president of the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, and holds membership in more than 15 professional and scientific societies. He has served as warden of his church, president of his Rotary Club and president of the Burlington Hospital board, and is active in other civic affairs.

Honored For Work

His work has been recognized with honors from the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, industrial and agricultural organizations. He received the Wisconsin 4-H Club Award in 1959 and 1963.

He was a volunteer campaign worker backing Republican Congressman Henry C. Shadeberg, First District.

Spitzer was selected as a member of Wisconsin's 32-man Agricultural Goodwill Mission which traveled to Russia, Poland, Hungary, Belgium, France, Germany and England under the "People to People" program. He will show slides taken in Iron Curtain countries and discuss his experiences, work and belief in America in the Chamber forum speech.

Hopefuls Try
Of Prudence

Goldwater, Johnson
Both Claiming Sense Of Responsibility

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — It should be assumed that the two major political parties would pick presidential candidates who are prudent, responsible and restrained and that this can be taken for granted.
But both President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater are spending a lot of time assuring the country they are very prudent, indeed, without dwelling on that particular word.
Johnson in this campaign, one of the strangest of the century and about as nonintellectual as any in memory, has been stressing his sense of restraint and responsibility. So has Goldwater, who calls himself a "peacemonger."
The campaign took this turn because Goldwater apparently thinks it necessary to protest how different he is from how he says repeatedly he has been pictured.

LBJ Takes Advantage
Johnson apparently thinks it good politics to take advantage of Goldwater's self-consciousness.

The President keeps emphasizing the need for restraint and responsibility in the presidency without mentioning by name the Goldwater picture that Goldwater wants to get rid of.

Oddly enough, Goldwater can't blame the Democrats alone for painting this picture, although they're doing their best to keep it in public view.

Last month, at a unity meeting with other Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Goldwater said:

"The No. 1 problem facing the nation... in this election... is the totally wrong view our opponents will try to din into the minds of every American voter — that the election of a Republican president will somehow lead to war."

"We will hear over and over again until November such words as 'impulsive,' 'trigger-happy,' 'imprudent,' 'hip-shooting,' and the like."

"No Policy"
"I wonder if the really 'impulsive' and 'imprudent' president isn't the one who is so indecisive and vacillating that he has no policy at all — with the result that potential aggressors are prompted to move because they know we have no policy at all."

But a reporter said to Goldwater:
"Up to now it's mainly been other Republicans who have been using these words against you. Do you feel that you have satisfied these Republicans on these points?"

Goldwater replied: "Oh, during the course of a primary campaign many of us use language we later wish we hadn't. I recognize it, however, as a major problem on my part."

Then he accused Johnson of being "impulsive" by telling naval commanders, when American ships were attacked in the Gulf of Tonkin, "to use any weapons necessary."

Goldwater has repeatedly used this statement: "Some critics try to make it appear that we are preoccupied by war or are eager for war. There is no greater political lie. We are preoccupied by peace."

Barry Keeps It Alive
But in his very repetition, in trying to blot out the picture he says his critics created, Goldwater is keeping it alive.

He did it again as recently as Tuesday night in his televised interview with Eisenhower when he complained "my opponents" are referring to him and his vice-presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller as "warmongers."

Johnson, now that he has decided to campaign in earnest, may be abandoning his rather oblique attempt to contrast himself with Goldwater by talking of his own "restraint."

Tuesday at Atlantic City Johnson told his audience: "You know it takes a man who loves his country to build a house instead of a raving, ranting demagogue who wants to tear one down."

Late the White House wanted reporters to change "demagogue" to "demagogues" — a change which might indicate Johnson had no one person in mind — but later let reporters quote Johnson as saying "demagogue" in the singular.

As Gladys Edges Nearer Mainland She Brings Rains

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Gladys edged closer to the mainland today, bringing with it rain and heavy seas that lashed the mid-Atlantic Coast from Virginia to New Jersey.

High tide flooding, with 10 to 15-foot waves, was expected as the big hurricane continues its slow movement to the northwest. At last report, it was about 225 miles southeast of Norfolk, Va.

The middle of the nation was doused with locally heavy rains. More than an inch of rain was recorded at many places in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, and Texas.

Temperatures dropped into the 30s and 40s overnight in the Rocky Mountain states but readings into the 70s prevailed in California and southern Arizona.

San Francisco, usually the coolest major city in the country, recorded a high reading of 91 degrees Tuesday with more hot weather forecast for today.

Wisconsin's Births Down, Deaths Hike

Figures Listed in Annual Report of State Health Board

MADISON (AP) — Births declined almost 3,000, deaths increased more than 1,300, and marriages were up sharply in the state during 1963, a report on Wisconsin's health showed Tuesday.

The figures, contained in the State Board of Health's annual statistical report, were compared with those compiled a year earlier.

Births dropped to 91,605, the smallest number recorded in almost a decade, with the birth rate falling to 22.6 per 1,000 population. This is the lowest rate since 1945.

Marriages, however, have increased to 25,678, a sharp rise over 1962. This may be the first indication, the report said, that the second postwar "marriage birth" rise is close at hand.

The number of deaths rose to 39,676 in Wisconsin last year, but remained within the 15-year range with a rate of 9.8 per 1,000 population.

Gains Offset

The gains that are being made in the reduction of deaths from certain causes are probably being offset by the growing proportion of aged, the report noted.

The pattern of causes of death remains largely the same. Between the ages of 1 and 34, accidents are the predominate cause of death, accounting for 42.7 per cent.

The second leading cause of death during the first 34 years is cancer, contributing 13.2 per cent to the total.

Heart attacks account for 30.5 per cent of all deaths among men between 35 and 64, compared with 13.5 per cent of female deaths in this age range.

During this same part of the life span, the report said, cancer caused 34.1 per cent of female deaths, but only 19.7 per cent of the male deaths.

The five leading causes of death for Wisconsin's entire population in 1963 were:

Heart disease 15,613; cancer 6,455; cerebral vascular lesions (stroke) 4,766; accidents 1,324 and influenza and pneumonia 1,467.

First '65 Autos Unveiled Today

BY CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry was in a holiday mood today as it lifted the curtain on the first of its 363 new 1965 models.

Ford Motor Co. unveiled its Lincoln Continental line today and American Motors put its Ramblers on display.

All General Motors divisions will show their new products Thursday, with Chrysler Corp. and the rest of Ford's lines due for public view Friday.

Salesmen in 40,000 dealer showrooms across the country had their pencils sharpened to resume the fast selling pace which marked the 1964 model run.

One of the key questions was whether auto makers would hold the price line. In view of contract gains won by the United Auto Workers and increased costs of some materials.

Partial Answer

A partial answer came Tuesday when Ford announced that 1965 Lincoln-Continental prices would be unchanged. The four-door sedan, for example, was listed at a $5,766 factory-suggested price, the same basic price the car has had since it was introduced in September 1960.

General Motors announced today it was generally holding the price line for the seventh consecutive year on its five lines.

Basic prices of Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet lines remained the same as in 1964, but there were some adjustments in prices of optional equipment.

Buick, for example, said it was making a $30 reduction in the price of four of its Le Sabre series, but on the other hand adjusted the prices of all convertible models in its three top lines to cover inclusion of a solid glass rear window as standard equipment.

In general, the trend in 1965 cars was towards longer, more powerful vehicles.

Chief Champion

Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors, chief champion of the compact car, added a more luxurious line to AMC's list this year with the comment: "I don't know of any period in automotive history in which demand for variety of choice and luxury or extra features has been so vigorous."

On the styling front, the most noticeable thing about 1965 cars is that their generally follow long, clean lines with a minimum of gingerbread. More engine options and a raft of accessories are available.

Chevrolet, with 45 models in its five lines, offers more choices than any other car maker. Ford is next with 44.

343 New Models

The industry total of 343 new models is the highest ever put out by the Big Three — Ford, Chrysler and General Motors — and American Motors.

Especially heavy emphasis was laid on convertibles and hardtops in the new line, with American Motors joining the race for the so-called youth market.

The fastback, a straight sloping line from the rear window to the rear bumper was noticeable on quite a few new cars.

The industry seemed to operate on the theory that customers had more money and wanted more than a stripped-down car.

Robert Anderson, Chrysler vice president for manufacturing, explained it this way: "A customer goes into a showroom, orders a compact and then as a reward for his frugality, dresses it up with an air conditioner, power brakes, power steering, automatic transmission and an optional V-8 engine."

Sunday School to Start at First English Lutheran

"Lutherans Are Asking" is the first of a new series of Sunday school materials for high school students being used at First English Lutheran Church. Jerry Byrne serves as the principal of the high school department.

Byrne announced that after the first quarter the students will follow these courses of study: "Your Neighbor's Faith," "Me, Myself and God," "Getting the Bible Message," "What Is My Purpose," "Sex, Love and Marriage" and "God and His Creation."

Eventually this new series of high school Sunday school materials, issued for the first time this fall by the American Lutheran Church, is to include 20 courses of Christian concern.

Teaching in the high school department's six classes at First English Lutheran Church are Jerry Byrne, Bill Day, Robert Schmitz, Carl Stecker, Student Pastor David Kaplan, Jack Heiken and several associate teachers.

These classes meet each Sunday from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m., joining the Rev. Leonard Ziemer's adult class for opening devotions in the church before going to their classroom areas.

Pastor Ziemer had a part in the preparation of these materials as a member of the Board of Parish Education of the American Lutheran Church.

Appleton City Sealer Finds 112 Dozen Small Eggs Too Small

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Some hens just aren't laying eggs like they used to.

The authority on the subject is Appleton Sealer of Weights and Measures Roger LaBerge.

He has started a crackdown on eggs, and to the merchants that's no yoke.

The ever-watchful LaBerge walked into a local supermarket Tuesday and ordered 112 dozen small eggs taken off the shelves.

Eggs Underweight

The reason? They were underweight.

LaBerge made the discovery after he took out his intricate weighing paraphernalia and "scaled" several eggs.

small eggs when in effect they were in a midget class," LaBerge said.

What he meant was that they did not meet the required 22-ounce minimum weight for a dozen small eggs.

LaBerge said he is following the "egg bible" put out by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

Minimum Sizes

The state says the medium-sized eggs must weigh 24 ounces by the dozen; large, 26 ounces; and the jumbo size, 28 ounces.

After LaBerge designated the eggs off-bounds for sale, the merchant had to regrade and repack them.
